Death Comes to Orman Laisure

Aged man dies after long illness, funeral Monday, burial at Monroe

Orman Laisure, age seventy-nine year and 7 months, died at his home on North Residence street Saturday afternoon, following an extended illness with complications arising from old age. He is survived by a widow and seven children, who include five sons, Elwood, Robert Laisure of Winchester, David, Bird and Jesse Laisure, all of near Monroe, Indiana and two daughters, Mrs. (Ida Mae) Dan Bailey of Winchester, and Mrs. Celia Myers, living in Michigan.

Funeral services were held at eleven o'clock Monday morning at the Christian church on East street with Rev. D. R. Lusk, of Albany, formerly pastor of the local church, officiating. The pall bearers were J. F. Michael, Hugh Payner, David H. Gray, Oria Leonard, Mr King and Clyde Brumley. The services were largely attended by relatives and friends.

Following the funeral, the body was shipped on the 1:42 train over the GR. & I to Monroe, in Adams county where burial was made (In Smith Cemetery) following short services.
