

COURT HOUSE NEWS.

By the terms of his will, Harvey S. Miller gives all his estate, real and personal, to his wife, Ellen Miller, for use during life. At her death, a suitable tombstone is to be erected at the grave of himself and wife, and a daughter, Mrs. Maggie Harden, is to receive $500; and a grandson, Burley Hindenlang, $50. The remainder of the estate is to be divided equally among the grandchildren. The wife is named as executrix, to serve without bond. Nellie and Frank McIntosh were witnesses. February 24 is the date of the execution of the will.

Decatur Daily Democrat
August 11, 1916

Decatur Daily Democrat, Adams
County, Indiana; August 11, 1916

COURT HOUSE NEWS

By the terms of his will, Harvey S. Miller, gives all his estate, real and personal, to his wife, Ellen Miller, for use during life. At her death, a suitable tombstone is to be erected at the grave of himself and wife, and a daughter, Mrs. Maggie Harden, is to receive $500.00; and a grandson, Burley Hindenlang, $50.00. The remainder of the estate is to be divided equally among the grandchildren. The wife is named as executrix, to serve without bond. Nellie and Frank McIntosh were witnesses. February 24 is the date of the execution of the will.

Transcribed by Karin King