Dr. D. D. Jones Dies This Morning
Retired Physician Dies at Berne Home

Dr. Daniel Dailey Jones, 82, prominent retired Bern physician, died at 1:55 o'clock this morning at his home in that city. Dr. Jones had been in failing health for several months and his condition had been critical for the past two weeks.

One of the best known physicians in this area, Dr. Jones practiced medicine in Berne from 1909 until his retirement in October of 1951.

In addition to his wide medical practice, Dr. Jones was connected with several Berne industries and was highly active in civic and community affairs.

The Berne physician was a veteran of World War I, serving with the medical corps, and was discharged at the end of the war with the rank of lieutenant-colonel.

He was born at Wren, O., March 4, 1871, but spent most of his life in Berne. He was graduated from Northwestern University school of medicine and then opened his office in Berne. He was for years associated with his brother, Dr. Harry O. Jones, who died several years ago.

Surviving are his wife, the former Maggie Pearl Rawley; three sons, Robert Jones of Ontario, Calif., Rawley Jones of Berne and Benjamin Jones of Atlanta, Ga.; five brothers, Harlen H. Jones of near Decatur, B. O. Jones of Citronelle, Ala., Charles Jones of Berne route 2, Clyde and Fred Jones, both of Willshire township, Van Wert county, O.; and two sisters, Mrs. Charles Voltz and Mrs. Clara Greulach, both of Willshire township. The body was removed to the Yager funeral home at Berne.

Funeral arrangements have not been completed pending word from relatives.
