

Bluffton News-Banner, Wells County, IN; Saturday, May 14, 2005

A native of Wells County, a brother of Randy Burns of Bluffton and a grandson of Dan and Debbie Richardson of Keystone, Jeremy L Miller, 17, of Geneva was killed in a farming accident in Ridgeville Corners, Ohio, at 9 a.m. Thursday, May 12, 2005.

A home-schooled youth, he had worked for Mega Farms at Ridgeville Corners. He was a member of the Geneva High Street United Methodist Church and was a sports and outdoors enthusiast.

Born Nov. 7, 1987, in Wells County, he was a son of Randy Hough of Geneva and Angela Miller of Geneva, both surviving.

Also surviving are two additional brothers, Nicholas "A.J." Clemons and Jimmy Hough, both of Geneva; one sister, Shelby Hough of Geneva, and additional grandparents, John and Judy Hough of Bryant. Preceding him in death was a grandfather, Gary E. Miller.

Calling will be from 4 to 8 p.m. Monday at Downing & Glancy Funeral Home, Geneva, where services will be at 10:30 a.m. Tuesday. Burial will be in Riverside Cemetery, Geneva.