

James Parr Dead

Son of Mrs. Amy Parr of North Ninth Street, Died Early Today at Saginaw, Mich.

Victim of Influenza - Was Employee of Owosso Sugar Company

James Parr, unmarried, aged thirty-four, son of Mrs. Amy Parr, of North Ninth Street and of the late John Parr, died this morning at 6:20 o'clock in the hospital at Saginaw, Mich., from complications arising from influenza.

The first word of his illness came in a telegram yesterday afternoon, sent at 5:30 the evening before, in which it was stated he was in the hospital from influenza and that chances for recovery were slight. This morning came a message that he was worse and about twenty minutes later came the death telegram. The body will be brought here.

The deceased was an employee of the Owosso Sugar Company for about three years and had lived at Owosso during that time. Saginaw, where he was taken to the hospital, is about fifteen miles from Owosso.

The deceased is survived by the mother, and three brothers, and a sister: Will of Springfield, Idaho; Fred, of Decatur; Harry, a soldier in France and Lorine, at home.

Prior to going to Michigan he spent practically of his life here and is well and favorably known here.

The family here wired that the body be sent here for burial.
