William Pillars Guardian of said Ethel Pillars being first duly sworn upon his oath swear that as such guardian he came into possession of a certain piece of real estate, in Fairfield county, Ohio. Acting in good faith and under the advice of an attorney in said state of Ohio, he made a contract of sale for said real estate at and for the sum of $500.00. That afterwards upon consulting with another attorney he found that he had no authority to make such sale without procuring a proper order from the probate court of said county in Ohio. That as soon as he learned that it was necessary for him to so do, he procured said order, and had said real estate appraised, That it was appraised for the sum of $550.00. That acting upon the advice of his attorney he sold the said real estate to the person who had first contracted for it, reporting to the court that he had receive the sum of $550, when in truth and in fact he never received more than the first contract price $500.00. That to cover said difference and to save the estate of his ward any further cost, of a reappraisement of said real estate, he made a quit claim deed for his interest in the same, which he held as relict of his deceased wife, believing that the same was worth more than the difference between the sale and the reappraisement and therefore the said ward received the full purchase price of said real estate. Wherefore he asks that he have credit for said $50.00
