Berne News

Brayton Pyle, farmer of east of Berne, went deer hunting in Pennsylvania last week, the first day the season was opened. Within four hours after he started hunting he had his dear and was back in Berne the next morning. He shot a nice 4 point buck.

Miss Isabelle Zehr, 21, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Zehr of this place who has been ill for several years, was taken to the Richmond state hospital last week for treatment.

The heirs of the late Adam Biberstine will hold a public sale on Wednesday, Dec. 20, both farms, consisting of 300 acres, and the personal property will be sold.

Forest Balsiger, local filling station owner, recently found a new way to catch a rabbit. Walking through a meadow near here, Balsiger spied a bunny sitting in a patch of grass. Not having a gun, but wanting the cotton-tail pretty bad Balsiger pulled off the coat he was wearing and threw it over the rabbit. The Balsiger family had fried rabbit on the table.

Edward E. Liechty, local newspaper man who underwent an operation at the Adams county hospital two weeks ago, and who was in a serious condition for some time, has been brought to his home here and is recovering nicely. He reports that he feels fine and expects to be back at work in a few weeks.
