

DeHaven, Arista Manderville

Source: Covington Friend 9 April 1915 p 5

Arista DeHaven left Monday for Grand Rapids, Michigan to join the baseball team of which he will be a member this season. He was transferred this year from Dayton to Grand Rapids, both cities being members of the Central League. The season will open April 25th at Evansville, Ind.

Source: familysearch.org

Brief Life History of Arista Manderville DeHaven

When Arista Manderville Dehaven was born on 27 September 1881, in Covington, Troy Township, Fountain, Indiana, United States, his father, Abner B. Dehaven, was 38 and his mother, Margaret Elizabeth Osborn, was 37. He married Mary Bowman Weldon on 14 October 1908, in Vigo, Indiana, United States. He lived in Troy Township, Fountain, Indiana, United States for about 20 years. He died on 19 March 1963, in Covington, Troy Township, Fountain, Indiana, United States, at the age of 81, and was buried in Covington, Troy Township, Fountain, Indiana, United States.

Source: Terre Haute Daily Tribune 7 March 1916

Grand Rapids, Michigan March 7 – Manager Essick has received the signed contract of Captain Arista DeHaven who has been wintering at Covington, Ind. The veteran outfielder said he was feeling fine and would be glad to get back in Grand Rapids. The Grand Rapids players have been ordered to report the first week in April and DeHaven is expected to be first to report.

Source: Baseball History Daily 8-12-2013

“Defending their own Honor.” – In 1909 the Atlanta Crackers won their second Southern Association championships in three seasons. Big things were expected for 1910; the team's two 20-game winning pitchers, Tom Fisher and Harold Johns were returning. The team the Southern press called “the hitless wonders,” which hit .222 while winning the championship added two new bats, outfielder Arista DeHaven .336 with the Terre Haute Hottentots in the Central League and Charlie Seit .326 with the Norfolk Tars in the Virginia League. The whole team (including DeHaven) signed a paper saying :

We the undersigned players of the 1910 bullclub, appreciating to the full the kind of loyal support always accorded us by the good citizens of Atlanta, desire hereby to register an emphatic protest against a statement recently made in a Birmingham paper to the effect that there was dissention among us and that this dissention so it was alleged was the cause of our defeats on the last road trip. Without stopping to discuss the real reasons which gave us more defeats than victories, we wish to state that it gives us much satisfaction to put our friends on notice that there is not one word of truth in this malicious slander and further that we know of no reason why there should be any dissent in our club – it should be further interesting to state as we do, that the very best of feeling prevails among us all and there is not one of us who is not doing his very utmost to land another pennant for Atlanta. We simply ask our friends to continue to put their faith in us and in return we desire to give them the assurance that whether we win another pennant or not we are firmly determined to play the best and sincerest ball of our careers – at least so far as honest and persevering effort can aid in bringing about so happy a result. We confidently hope to amply show both friend and foe long before the summer of 1910 has passed into baseball history, just how basely we have been misrepresented by this idle and empty charge. Signed: Harry Matthews, Hyder Edard Barr; Roy E Moran; Erskine Mayer; Charles Seitz; ARISTA DeHAVEN; B. Rogers; Syd Smith; Thomas C. Fisher, Jr; Scott Walker, HO Bayless; HL Johns; JL Griffin; Paul Sentell?

Note: Atlanta finished with a 75-63 record Dot Lewis' Post on Facebook

What is the history of the Terre Haute Terre-iers baseball team?

Haute Historic Sports Teams & Players: Wabash Valley, IN ·

Dot Lewis ·

Admin

·esonrptSdoca7543ct3062rM2140g6u25hl_0a2h6c4f586f30886,f2670 ·

Terre Haute Terre-iers

History Central League 1910 & 1911

Central League - Terre Haute Terre-iers 1912 to 1914

Central League - Terre Haute Highlanders 1915 & 1916

The ballpark

Timeline

Year-by-year records

Notable alumni

References Terre Haute Terre-iers

From Wikipedia, the free encyclopedia

Terre Haute Terre-iers

1912–1914

(1910–1916)

Terre Haute, Indiana

Minor league affiliations

Class Class B (1910–1916)

League Central League (1910–1916)

Major league affiliations

Team None

Minor league titles

League titles (0) None

Team data

Name Terre Haute Stags (1910)

Terre Haute Miners (1911)

Terre Haute Terre-iers (1912–1914)

Terre Haute Highlanders (1915–1916)

Ballpark Athletic Park (1910–1916)

Source: Dayton Veterans (kidspaulw.com)

Player ID P8178

Arista DeHaven

Records: All records for P8178

Name	Year	Span	Games	Team	League	Location	Record #
DeHaven Arista	1905			Lebanon IN	Independent	,	R31335
DeHaven Arista	1905			Cairo Giants	Kentucky-Illinois-Tennessee League	,	R31336
DeHaven Arista	1906	4/29-9/25		Springfield Babes	Central League	,	R31337

DeHaven Arista	1907	5/12-9/2+		Terre Haute Hottentots	Central League	,	R31338
DeHaven Arista	1908		136 g.	Terre Haute Hottentots	Central League	,	R31339
DeHaven Arista	1909		139 g.	Terre Haute Hottentots	Central League	,	R31340
DeHaven Arista	1910		99 g.	Atlanta Crackers	Southern Association	,	R31341
DeHaven Arista	1910		40 g.	Dayton Veterans	Central League	,	R31342

The Terre Haute Terre-iers were a minor league baseball team based in Terre Haute, Indiana.

From 1910 to 1916, Terre Haute teams exclusively played as members of the Class B level Central League, following the 1900 through 1909 Terre Haute Hottentots, who began the tenure as members of the Central League. Following the Hottentots, Terre Haute played under four nicknames and had one winning Central League season, in 1915. The Terre Haute teams played in the Central League as the "Stags" in 1910, the "Miners" in 1911, the "Terre-iers" from 1912 to 1914 and the "Highlanders" in 1915 and 1916.

The Terre Haute "Terre-iers" nickname was a deliberate misspelling of "Terriers."

For their duration in the league, Terre Haute teams hosted Central League home minor league games at Athletic Park, the site of today's Indiana State University owned Memorial Stadium.

History

Central League 1910 & 1911

Terre Haute first hosted baseball play as early as 1870. One of the early Terre Haute baseball teams in 1883 was nicknamed the "Awkwards."^[1]^[2]

Minor league baseball began in Terre Haute in 1884, when the "Terre Haute" team played the season as members of the Independent level Northwestern League under managers Al Buckenberger and George Hammerstein, finishing with a 17–44 record.^[3]^[4]

After beginning play in the 1891 Northwestern League, the Terre Haute Hottentots immediately preceded the Terre Haute "Stags" team in Central League play.^[5]^[6] The Terre Haute Hottentots played as members of the Central League in 1897, 1900 and from 1903 to 1909.[7][3] The Hottentots played minor league home games at Athletic Park, which continued hosting home games for the Central League Terre Haute teams.[8]

In 1910 the Terre Haute Hottentots received a new nickname, as the "Stags" continued Terre Haute's membership in the Class B level Central League.[5][9][1] The Dayton Veterans Evansville River Rats, Fort Wayne Billikens, Grand Rapids Raiders, South Bend Bronchos, Wheeling Stogies and Zanesville Potters teams joined the Stags in beginning Central League play on April 20, 1910.[10][11]

The 1910 Terre Haute Stags placed fifth in the final standings of the eight-team Central League.[9] The Stags finished with a regular season record 42–36, playing the season under manager Cuppy Groeschow, who had managed the Hottentots in 1909.[7] Terre Haute finished 24.5 games behind the first place South Bend Bronchos in the final league standings of the eight-team league, which held no playoffs in the era.[3][11][10] Arista DeHaven of Terre Haute had 173 total hits to lead the Central League.[3]

The Terre Haute team was known as the "Miners" in the 1911 season, as the team finished last in the eight-team Central League.[1][12] The Miners ended the season with a record of 45–91, placing eighth in the Central League, playing the season under managers Ed Wheeler, Angus Grant and Jock Somerlott. Terre Haute finished 40.5 games behind the first place Dayton Veterans in the final standings.[3][13][14] Joe Connolly, who was traded from Zanesville/ to Terre Haute during the season, won the Central League batting title, hitting .355.[3]

Central League - Terre Haute Terre-iers 1912 to 1914

The Class B Central League expanded by four teams in 1912, as Terre Haute continued league play, becoming known by the "Terre-iers" nickname.[15] The Akron Rubbermen, Canton Statesmen, Erie Sailors and Youngstown Steelmen teams joined the league increasing it to twelve teams.[16]

The Terre Haute "Terre-iers" nickname was a deliberate misspelling of "Terriers" to match the "Terre" in "Terre Haute." [1]

On June 10, 1912, a rarity occurred in a Terre Haute game against Akron. Akron player Jack McCallister batted five times against Terre Haute with no official at-bats. McCallister had five consecutive sacrifice bunts in the game.[17]

On the field, the Terre-iers placed tenth in the 12–team Central League, after the league had expanded. Terre Haute ended the season with a record of 59–79, finishing 18.0 games behind the first place Fort Wayne Railroaders. The 12–team league held no playoffs.[18][3][19]

The Terre Haute Terre-iers continued play in the 1913 Central League, as the Central League reduced from twelve teams to six teams and remained a Class B level league.[20][21]

After a 7–6 loss in a 1913 game against Fort Wayne, Terre Haute player/manager Goat Anderson protested the game. During the game, a loose Great Dane named "Don" ran at Anderson as he chased after a base hit in left field. "Don" running and jumping at Anderson caused him to hesitate and the batter ended up with a triple on the play. Anderson filed a protest that the entire game be played over. Central League president Louis Heilbroner denied Anderson's protest, reasoning that the play was not a significant impact on the outcome of the game. Heilbroner ordered that Don no longer be allowed on the field during games.[22]

Placing fifth in the final standings of the six-team Central League, the Terre-iers had an overall record of 60–79, playing the season under manager Ed "Goat" Anderson.[23][24] Terre Haute finished 31.5 games behind the first place Grand Rapids Bill-eds (92–48) in the final standings.[20] The Central League held no playoffs in 1913.[3]

The Terre Haute Terre-iers 1914 placed fourth as the Class B Central League played the season with six teams.[25][26] Larry Quinlan managed Terre Haute to a 61–71 record. After the Springfield Reapers team folded on August 8, the Central League continued play to the end of the season with five teams, concluding the season September 7, 1914. The Terre-iers ended the season 23.5 games behind the first place Dayton Veterans, with no league playoffs held.[27][28][3] Jack Sheehan of Terre Haute won the Central League batting title with a .340 average and also led the league with 179 total hits.[3]

Central League - Terre Haute Highlanders 1915 & 1916

The Terre Haute became known as the "Highlanders" in 1915.[1] On July 24, 1915, Terre Haute pitcher Art Nehf threw a no-hitter in a 1–0 victory over Erie. Nehf struck out 9 hitters and walked one in the victory.[29] Nehf would have a strong season with Terre Haute, before leaving the team for the major leagues in August.[30]

On May 22, 1915, Terre Haute played at Youngstown after their game at Erie on May 21 was rained out. Evansville was in first place in the Central League standings with a 17–10 record and Terre Haute was tied with Fort Wayne in fourth place with a 14–14 record on that date. "Jack" Vann was hitting .356 and "Bunny" Thomas .353 for Terre Haute on that date, good for second and third in the Central League. Terre Haute was second to Fort Wayne with a team batting average of .278.[31]

The Highlanders finished above .500 as the 1915 Central League continued play, expanding to an eight-team league from a six-team league.[32][33][3] With a 66–58 record, Terre Haute placed fourth, playing the season under manager Rufus Gilbert.[32] Terre Haute finished 7.0

games behind of the first place Evansville River Rats in the eight-team league final standings.[34][3]

Pitcher Art Nehf of Terre Haute led the Central League with both 218 strikeouts and a 1.38 ERA.[3] In 1915, having graduated with a degree in electrical engineering from Rose Polytechnic Institute in Terre Haute, Neff also threw a no-hitter for Terre Haute and had a Central League 17 strikeouts in another game. The Boston Braves sent Fred Mitchell to scout Neff. On August 4, 1914, the Braves purchased Neff's contract from Terre Haute for $3,500. and Neff made his debut with the defending world series champion Braves on August 13, 1915.[30][35]

Terre Haute Highlanders played their final season as members of the Class B level Central League in 1916.[36] The 1916 Terre Haute Highlanders placed sixth in the eight-team Central League.[37] With a record of 62–71, Terre Haute finished 25.5 games behind the champion Grand Rapids Black Sox. The 1916 Highlanders' manager was the returning Rufus Gilbert. Terre Haute did not qualify for the playoff won by the Dayton Veterans over the Springfield Reapers.[38][39][3] Terre Haute folded following the 1916 Central League season.[3]

The Central League continued play in 1917, as the Terre Haute franchise was replaced by the Richmond Quakers team in the eight-team league.[3] After not hosting a minor league team in 1917 and 1918, Terre Haute resumed play when the 1919 Terre Haute Browns began a long tenure for the franchise as members of the Three-I League, with Baseball Hall of Fame member and local native Mordecai Brown managing the 1919 Browns in their first season of play in the new league.[40] Terre Haute teams played in the league through 1956.[41]

Today, Terre Haute hosts the Terre Haute Rex, who play amateur collegiate summer baseball as a member of the Prospect League.[42][43] The Rex were formed in 2013.[44] The Rex host home games at Bob Warn Field at Sycamore Stadium, home to the of Indiana State Sycamores baseball team.[45] The stadium opened in 1978 as "Sycamore Stadium.[46]

The ballpark

The Terre Haute teams hosted Central League minor league home games at Athletic Park.[47] The ballpark hosted all Terre Haute minor league teams through 1925. The original ballpark was torn down in 1926.[8] The ballpark was called "Highland Park" while hosting the Terre Haute Highlanders.[48]

(2010) Indiana State University Memorial Stadium. The former outfield walls for baseball are still in place opposite the grandstands.

The Athletic Field site began as a fairground and hosted the 1867 Indiana State Fair. The site first had a ballpark in 1883 and that original ballpark was rebuilt in 1885. In 1925, the ballpark was torn down as the site was repurposed, remaining an athletic venue, where it continues to host athletics today containing the Indiana State University Memorial Stadium.[49]

On October 20, 1908, Athletic Park hosted an exhibition game between the World Series Champion Chicago Cubs and the Detroit Tigers. The Cubs had won the world series just six days earlier. The Cubs and defeated the Tigers in the exhibition game by the score of 7–1. The game was arranged by Cubs pitcher Mordecai Brown a native of the area. The game featured Baseball Hall of Fame members Brown, Ty Cobb, Frank Chance, Joe Tinker, and Johnny Evers.[47]

On May 5, 1925, after the site renovations that began in 1922, the newly built Memorial Stadium was dedicated to the public. The ceremonies occurred before the Three-I League game between Terre Haute Tots and Peoria Tractors. Major League Baseball Commissioner Judge Kenesaw Mountain Landis was a participant in the ceremonies.[50][51]

In 1967, Indiana State University purchased the site and facilities and began playing football games at Memorial Stadium. The stadium has since undergone numerous upgrades and evolved into a football and soccer facility. Today, Memorial Stadium is located at 3300 Wabash Avenue in Terre Haute, Indiana.[50][51]

Timeline

Year(s) Yrs. Team Level League Ballpark

1900, 1903–1909 1 Terre Haute Hottentots Class B Central League Athletic Park

1910 1 Terre Haute Stags

1911 1 Terre Haute Miners

1912–1914 3 Terre Haute Terre-iers

1915–1916 2 Terre Haute Highlanders

Year-by-year records

Year Record Finish Manager Playoffs / Notes

1910 63–74 5th Cuppy Groeschow No playoffs held

1911 45–91 8th Ed Wheeler / Angus Grant

Jock Somerlott No playoffs held

1912 59–70 10th Angus Grant / John Nee No playoffs held

(12-team league)

1913 60–79 5th Goat Anderson No playoffs held

1914 61–71 4th Larry Quinlan No playoffs held

1915 66–58 4th Rufus Gilbert No playoffs held

1916 62–71 6th Rufus Gilbert Did not qualify

Notable alumni

Cy Alberts (1910–1913)

Goat Anderson (1913, MGR)

Harry Arndt (1913)

Harry Billiard (1911)

Jim Callahan (1911)

Tom Cantwell (1912–1914)

Joe Connolly (1911)

Bill Cramer (1916)

Cal Crum (1916)

Biddy Dolan (1912–1914)

Tom Drohan (1914)

Joe Evers (1913–1916)

Rufus Gilbert (1913; 1915–1916, MGR)

Oscar Graham (1914)

Bubbles Hargrave (1911–1913)

Bruce Hartford (1911–1912)

Eddie Higgins (1910)

Nick Kahl (1911)

Andy Kyle (1914)

Harry LaRoss (1916)

Len Madden (1913–1915)

Danny Mahoney (1911–1912)

Joe Mathes (1916)

Johnny Mitchell (1916)

Art Nehf (1912–1915)

Jay Parker (1913)

Charlie Pick (1912–1913)

Ollie Pickering (1912)

Charlie Pickett (1910)

Lou Schettler (1916)

Johnny Schulte (1916)

Ralph Shafer (1916)

Jack Sheehan (1914)

Fred Smith (1911)

Jock Somerlott (1910–1911)

Rudy Sommers (1910)

Vern Spencer (1916)

John Vann (1915)

Bill Wagner (1916)

Ed Wheeler (1911, MGR)

George Wheeler (1910, 1912–1913)

Terre Haute Terre-iers players

Terre Haute Highlanders players

Terre Haute Miners players

Terre Haute Stags players

References

"How the Terre Haute Huts Got Its Name – Stadium Journey". August 23, 2022.

Burger, Cory (May 19, 2013). "Historical Treasure: The 1947 Terre Haute Phillies and the history of baseball in America's Crossroads". Terre Haute Tribune-Star.

Johnson, Lloyd; Wolff, Miles, eds. (2007). The Encyclopedia of Minor League Baseball (Third ed.). Baseball America. ISBN 978-1932391176.

"1884 Terre Haute Statistics". Baseball-Reference.com.

"Origins of Native American Team Names, Part II – Marquette University Law School Faculty Blog". April 21, 2009.

"1891 Terre Haute Hottentots Statistics". Baseball-Reference.com.

"1909 Terre Haute Hottentots Statistics". Baseball-Reference.com.

"Athletics Park in Terre Haute, IN minor league baseball history and teams on StatsCrew.com". www.statscrew.com.

"1910 Terre Haute Stags Statistics". Baseball-Reference.com.

"1910 Central League (CL) on StatsCrew.com". www.statscrew.com.

"1910 Central League". Baseball-Reference.com.

"1911 Terre Haute Miners". Baseball-Reference.com. n.d. Retrieved October 16, 2024.

"1911 Central League". Baseball-Reference.com.

"1911 Central League (CL) on StatsCrew.com". www.statscrew.com.

"1912 Terre Haute Terre-iers Statistics". Baseball-Reference.com.

"1912 Central League". Baseball-Reference.com.

"Jack McCallister – Society for American Baseball Research".

"1912 Terre Haute Terre-iers minor league baseball Roster on StatsCrew.com". www.statscrew.com.

"1912 Central League (CL) on StatsCrew.com". www.statscrew.com.

"1913 Central League (CL) Minor League Baseball Standings on StatsCrew.com". www.statscrew.com.

"1913 Central League". Baseball-Reference.com.

"Terre Haute Terriers". Baseball History Daily.

"1913 Terre Haute Terre-iers Statistics". Baseball-Reference.com.

"1913 Terre Haute Terre-iers minor league baseball Roster on StatsCrew.com".
www.statscrew.com.

"1914 Terre Haute Terre-iers Statistics". Baseball-Reference.com.

"1914 Terre Haute Terre-iers minor league baseball Roster on StatsCrew.com".
www.statscrew.com.

"1914 Central League". Baseball-Reference.com.

"1914 Central League (CL) Minor League Baseball Standings on StatsCrew.com".
www.statscrew.com.

"Minor League No Hitters". Google Docs.

"Art Nehf – Society for American Baseball Research".

"Daily Tribune 22 May 1915 — Hoosier State Chronicles: Indiana's Digital Historic Newspaper Program". newspapers.library.in.gov.

"1915 Terre Haute Highlanders Statistics". Baseball-Reference.com.

"1915 Central League". Baseball-Reference.com.

"1915 Terre Haute Highlanders minor league baseball Roster on StatsCrew.com".
www.statscrew.com.

"Fred Mitchell – Society for American Baseball Research".

"1916 Terre Haute Highlanders Statistics". Baseball-Reference.com.

McCormick, Mike (June 17, 2006). "Historical Perspective: Baseball season of '16 had highs, lows". Terre Haute Tribune-Star.

"1916 Terre Haute Highlanders minor league baseball Roster on StatsCrew.com".
www.statscrew.com.

"1916 Central League (CL) on StatsCrew.com". www.statscrew.com.

"1919 Terre Haute Browns Statistics". Baseball-Reference.com.

"1956 Illinois-Indiana-Iowa League". Baseball-Reference.com.

"2024 Prospect League Standings - Prospect League Baseball". www.prospectleague.com.
Retrieved 2023-11-16.

"REX Baseball | Terre Haute Rex Indiana summer baseball". www.rexbaseball.com. Retrieved 2018-08-06.

"2013 Terre Haute Rex Statistics". Baseball-Reference.com.

Baseball franchise coming to Terre Haute at tribstar.com, URL accessed December 30, 2009.
Archived 12/30/09

<https://web.archive.org/.../fields/sycamore/sycamore.html>

McCormick, Mike (November 6, 2016). "Historical Perspective: 'The Greatest game ever played in Terre Haute'". Terre Haute Tribune-Star. Retrieved October 16, 2024.

"Daily Tribune 29 June 1915 — Hoosier State Chronicles: Indiana's Digital Historic Newspaper Program". newspapers.library.in.gov.

McCormick, Michael (September 12, 2013). "Memorial Stadium's history a 'monument' to Terre Haute". ISU Student Media.

"Facilities". Indiana State University Athletics.

Bennett, Mark (March 13, 2010). "Terre Haute once built 'finest minor league baseball park'". Terre Haute Tribune-Star

Short article mentioning him a few times going to Grand Rapids in 1915 (25 March) Terre Haute Daily Tribune - What is the history of the Terre Haute Terre-iers baseball team?

Summarized by AI from the post below

Haute Historic Sports Teams & Players: Wabash Valley, IN ·

Dot Lewis ·

Admin

esonrptSdoca7543ct3062rM2140g6u25hl 0a2h6c4f586f30886,f2670 ·

Terre Haute Terre-iers

HistoryCentral League 1910 & 1911

Central League - Terre Haute Terre-iers 1912 to 1914

Central League - Terre Haute Highlanders 1915 & 1916

The ballpark

Timeline

Year-by-year records

Notable alumni

References Terre Haute Terre-iers

From Wikipedia, the free encyclopedia

Terre Haute Terre-iers

1912–1914

(1910–1916)

Terre Haute, Indiana

Minor league affiliations

Class Class B (1910–1916)

League Central League (1910–1916)

Major league affiliations

Team None

Minor league titles

League titles (0) None

Team data

Name Terre Haute Stags (1910)

Terre Haute Miners (1911)

Terre Haute Terre-iers (1912–1914)

Terre Haute Highlanders (1915–1916)

Ballpark Athletic Park (1910–1916)

The Terre Haute Terre-iers were a minor league baseball team based in Terre Haute, Indiana.

From 1910 to 1916, Terre Haute teams exclusively played as members of the Class B level Central League, following the 1900 through 1909 Terre Haute Hottentots, who began the tenure as members of the Central League. Following the Hottentots, Terre Haute played under four nicknames and had one winning Central League season, in 1915. The Terre Haute teams played in the Central League as the "Stags" in 1910, the "Miners" in 1911, the "Terre-iers" from 1912 to 1914 and the "Highlanders" in 1915 and 1916.

The Terre Haute "Terre-iers" nickname was a deliberate misspelling of "Terriers."

For their duration in the league, Terre Haute teams hosted Central League home minor league games at Athletic Park, the site of today's Indiana State University owned Memorial Stadium.

History

Central League 1910 & 1911

Terre Haute first hosted baseball play as early as 1870. One of the early Terre Haute baseball teams in 1883 was nicknamed the "Awkwards."^[1]^[2]

Minor league baseball began in Terre Haute in 1884, when the "Terre Haute" team played the season as members of the Independent level Northwestern League under managers Al Buckenberger and George Hammerstein, finishing with a 17–44 record.^[3]^[4]

After beginning play in the 1891 Northwestern League, the Terre Haute Hottentots immediately preceded the Terre Haute "Stags" team in Central League play.^[5]^[6] The Terre Haute Hottentots played as members of the Central League in 1897, 1900 and from 1903 to 1909.^[7]^[3] The Hottentots played minor league home games at Athletic Park, which continued hosting home games for the Central League Terre Haute teams.^[8]

In 1910 the Terre Haute Hottentots received a new nickname, as the "Stags" continued Terre Haute's membership in the Class B level Central League.^[5]^[9]^[1] The Dayton Veterans, Evansville River Rats, Fort Wayne Billikens, Grand Rapids Raiders, South Bend Bronchos, Wheeling Stogies and Zanesville Potters teams joined the Stags in beginning Central League play on April 20, 1910.^[10]^[11]

The 1910 Terre Haute Stags placed fifth in the final standings of the eight-team Central League.^[9] The Stags finished with a regular season record 42–36, playing the season under manager Cuppy Groeschow, who had managed the Hottentots in 1909.^[7] Terre Haute finished 24.5 games behind the first place South Bend Bronchos in the final league standings of the eight-team league, which held no playoffs in the era.^[3]^[11]^[10] Arista DeHaven of Terre Haute had 173 total hits to lead the Central League.^[3]

The Terre Haute team was known as the "Miners" in the 1911 season, as the team finished last in the eight-team Central League.^[1]^[12] The Miners ended the season with a record of 45–91, placing eighth in the Central League, playing the season under managers Ed Wheeler, Angus Grant and Jock Somerlott. Terre Haute finished 40.5 games behind the first place Dayton Veterans in the final standings.^[3]^[13]^[14] Joe Connolly, who was traded from Zanesville/ to Terre Haute during the season, won the Central League batting title, hitting .355.^[3]

Central League - Terre Haute Terriers 1912 to 1914

The Class B Central League expanded by four teams in 1912, as Terre Haute continued league play, becoming known by the "Terre-iers" nickname.[15] The Akron Rubbermen, Canton Statesmen, Erie Sailors and Youngstown Steelmen teams joined the league increasing it to twelve teams.[16]

The Terre Haute "Terre-iers" nickname was a deliberate misspelling of "Terriers" to match the "Terre" in "Terre Haute." [1]

On June 10, 1912, a rarity occurred in a Terre Haute game against Akron. Akron player Jack McCallister batted five times against Terre Haute with no official at-bats. McCallister had five consecutive sacrifice bunts in the game.[17]

On the field, the Terre-iers placed tenth in the 12-team Central League, after the league had expanded. Terre Haute ended the season with a record of 59–79, finishing 18.0 games behind the first place Fort Wayne Railroaders. The 12-team league held no playoffs.[18][3][19]

The Terre Haute Terre-iers continued play in the 1913 Central League, as the Central League reduced from twelve teams to six teams and remained a Class B level league.[20][21]

After a 7–6 loss in a 1913 game against Fort Wayne, Terre Haute player/manager Goat Anderson protested the game. During the game, a loose Great Dane named "Don" ran at Anderson as he chased after a base hit in left field. "Don" running and jumping at Anderson caused him to hesitate and the batter ended up with a triple on the play. Anderson filed a protest that the entire game be played over. Central League president Louis Heilbroner denied Anderson's protest, reasoning that the play was not a significant impact on the outcome of the game. Heilbroner ordered that Don no longer be allowed on the field during games.[22]

Placing fifth in the final standings of the six-team Central League, the Terre-iers had an overall record of 60–79, playing the season under manager Ed "Goat" Anderson.[23][24] Terre Haute finished 31.5 games behind the first place Grand Rapids Bill-eds (92–48) in the final standings.[20] The Central League held no playoffs in 1913.[3]

The Terre Haute Terre-iers 1914 placed fourth as the Class B Central League played the season with six teams.[25][26] Larry Quinlan managed Terre Haute to a 61–71 record. After the Springfield Reapers team folded on August 8, the Central League continued play to the end of the season with five teams, concluding the season September 7, 1914. The Terre-iers ended the season 23.5 games behind the first place Dayton Veterans, with no league playoffs held.[27][28][3] Jack Sheehan of Terre Haute won the Central League batting title with a .340 average and also led the league with 179 total hits.[3]

Central League - Terre Haute Highlanders 1915 & 1916

The Terre Haute became known as the "Highlanders" in 1915.[1] On July 24, 1915, Terre Haute pitcher Art Nehf threw a no-hitter in a 1–0 victory over Erie. Nehf struck out 9 hitters and walked one in the victory.[29] Neff would have a strong season with Terre Haute, before leaving the team for the major leagues in August.[30]

On May 22, 1915, Terre Haute played at Youngstown after their game at Erie on May 21 was rained out. Evansville was in first place in the Central League standings with a 17–10 record and Terre Haute was tied with Fort Wayne in fourth place with a 14–14 record on that date. "Jack" Vann was hitting .356 and "Bunny" Thomas .353 for Terre Haute on that date, good for second and third in the Central League. Terre Haute was second to Fort Wayne with a team batting average of .278.[31]

The Highlanders finished above .500 as the 1915 Central League continued play, expanding to an eight-team league from a six-team league.[32][33][3] With a 66–58 record, Terre Haute placed fourth, playing the season under manager Rufus Gilbert.[32] Terre Haute finished 7.0 games behind of the first place Evansville River Rats in the eight–team league final standings.[34][3]

Pitcher Art Nehf of Terre Haute led the Central League with both 218 strikeouts and a 1.38 ERA.[3] In 1915, having graduated with a degree in electrical engineering from Rose Polytechnic Institute in Terre Haute, Neff also threw a no-hitter for Terre Haute and had a Central League 17 strikeouts in another game. The Boston Braves sent Fred Mitchell to scout Neff. On August 4, 1914, the Braves purchased Neff's contract from Terre Haute for $3,500. and Neff made his debut with the defending world series champion Braves on August 13, 1915.[30][35]

Terre Haute Highlanders played their final season as members of the Class B level Central League in 1916.[36] The 1916 Terre Haute Highlanders placed sixth in the eight–team Central League.[37] With a record of 62–71, Terre Haute finished 25.5 games behind the champion Grand Rapids Black Sox. The 1916 Highlanders' manager was the returning Rufus Gilbert. Terre Haute did not qualify for the playoff won by the Dayton Veterans over the Springfield Reapers.[38][39][3] Terre Haute folded following the 1916 Central League season.[3]

The Central League continued play in 1917, as the Terre Haute franchise was replaced by the Richmond Quakers team in the eight-team league.[3] After not hosting a minor league team in 1917 and 1918, Terre Haute resumed play when the 1919 Terre Haute Browns began a long tenure for the franchise as members of the Three-I League, with Baseball Hall of Fame member and local native Mordecai Brown managing the 1919 Browns in their first season of play in the new league.[40] Terre Haute teams played in the league through 1956.[41]

Today, Terre Haute hosts the Terre Haute Rex, who play amateur collegiate summer baseball as a member of the Prospect League.[42][43] The Rex were formed in 2013.[44] The Rex host home games at Bob Warn Field at Sycamore Stadium, home to the of Indiana State Sycamores baseball team.[45] The stadium opened in 1978 as "Sycamore Stadium.[46]

The ballpark

The Terre Haute teams hosted Central League minor league home games at Athletic Park.[47] The ballpark hosted all Terre Haute minor league teams through 1925. The original ballpark was torn down in 1926.[8] The ballpark was called "Highland Park" while hosting the Terre Haute Highlanders.[48]

(2010) Indiana State University Memorial Stadium. The former outfield walls for baseball are still in place opposite the grandstands.

The Athletic Field site began as a fairground and hosted the 1867 Indiana State Fair. The site first had a ballpark in 1883 and that original ballpark was rebuilt in 1885. In 1925, the ballpark was torn down as the site was repurposed, remaining an athletic venue, where it continues to host athletics today containing the Indiana State University Memorial Stadium.[49]

On October 20, 1908, Athletic Park hosted an exhibition game between the World Series Champion Chicago Cubs and the Detroit Tigers. The Cubs had won the world series just six days earlier. The Cubs had defeated the Tigers in the exhibition game by the score of 7–1. The game was arranged by Cubs pitcher Mordecai Brown a native of the area. The game featured Baseball Hall of Fame members Brown, Ty Cobb, Frank Chance, Joe Tinker, and Johnny Evers.[47]

On May 5, 1925, after the site renovations that began in 1922, the newly built Memorial Stadium was dedicated to the public. The ceremonies occurred before the Three-I League game between Terre Haute Tots and Peoria Tractors. Major League Baseball Commissioner Judge Kenesaw Mountain Landis was a participant in the ceremonies.[50][51]

In 1967, Indiana State University purchased the site and facilities and began playing football games at Memorial Stadium. The stadium has since undergone numerous upgrades and evolved into a football and soccer facility. Today, Memorial Stadium is located at 3300 Wabash Avenue in Terre Haute, Indiana.[50][51]

Timeline

Year(s) # Yrs. Team Level League Ballpark

1900, 1903–1909 1 Terre Haute Hottentots Class B Central League Athletic Park

1910 1 Terre Haute Stags

1911 1 Terre Haute Miners

1912–1914 3 Terre Haute Terre-iers

1915–1916 2 Terre Haute Highlanders

Year-by-year records

Year Record Finish Manager Playoffs / Notes

1910 63–74 5th Cuppy Groeschow No playoffs held

1911 45–91 8th Ed Wheeler / Angus Grant

Jock Somerlott No playoffs held

1912 59–70 10th Angus Grant / John Nee No playoffs held

(12-team league)

1913 60–79 5th Goat Anderson No playoffs held

1914 61–71 4th Larry Quinlan No playoffs held

1915 66–58 4th Rufus Gilbert No playoffs held

1916 62–71 6th Rufus Gilbert Did not qualify

Notable alumni

Cy Alberts (1910–1913)

Goat Anderson (1913, MGR)

Harry Arndt (1913)

Harry Billiard (1911)

Jim Callahan (1911)

Tom Cantwell (1912–1914)

Joe Connolly (1911)

Bill Cramer (1916)

Cal Crum (1916)

Biddy Dolan (1912–1914)

Tom Drohan (1914)

Joe Evers (1913–1916)

Rufus Gilbert (1913; 1915–1916, MGR)

Oscar Graham (1914)
Bubbles Hargrave (1911–1913)
Bruce Hartford (1911–1912)
Eddie Higgins (1910)
Nick Kahl (1911)
Andy Kyle (1914)
Harry LaRoss (1916)
Len Madden (1913–1915)
Danny Mahoney (1911–1912)
Joe Mathes (1916)
Johnny Mitchell (1916)
Art Nehf (1912–1915)
Jay Parker (1913)
Charlie Pick (1912–1913)
Ollie Pickering (1912)
Charlie Pickett (1910)
Lou Schettler (1916)
Johnny Schulte (1916)
Ralph Shafer (1916)
Jack Sheehan (1914)
Fred Smith (1911)
Jock Somerlott (1910–1911)
Rudy Sommers (1910)
Vern Spencer (1916)
John Vann (1915)
Bill Wagner (1916)

Ed Wheeler (1911, MGR)

George Wheeler (1910, 1912–1913)

Terre Haute Terre-iers players

Terre Haute Highlanders players

Terre Haute Miners players

Terre Haute Stags players

Note: By the 1920 census he was living in Covington – Arista age 38 IN IN IN – superintendent of gravel pit

Mary wife age 38 same

Weldon, Devada mother-in-law 57 widowed Iowa IN Iowa

References

"How the Terre Haute Huts Got Its Name – Stadium Journey". August 23, 2022.

Burger, Cory (May 19, 2013). "Historical Treasure: The 1947 Terre Haute Phillies and the history of baseball in America's Crossroads". Terre Haute Tribune-Star.

Johnson, Lloyd; Wolff, Miles, eds. (2007). The Encyclopedia of Minor League Baseball (Third ed.). Baseball America. ISBN 978-1932391176.

"1884 Terre Haute Statistics". Baseball-Reference.com.

"Origins of Native American Team Names, Part II – Marquette University Law School Faculty Blog". April 21, 2009.

"1891 Terre Haute Hottentots Statistics". Baseball-Reference.com.

"1909 Terre Haute Hottentots Statistics". Baseball-Reference.com.

"Athletics Park in Terre Haute, IN minor league baseball history and teams on StatsCrew.com". www.statscrew.com.

"1910 Terre Haute Stags Statistics". Baseball-Reference.com.

"1910 Central League (CL) on StatsCrew.com". www.statscrew.com.

"1910 Central League". Baseball-Reference.com.

"1911 Terre Haute Miners". Baseball-Reference.com. n.d. Retrieved October 16, 2024.

"1911 Central League". Baseball-Reference.com.

"1911 Central League (CL) on StatsCrew.com". www.statscrew.com.

"1912 Terre Haute Terre-iers Statistics". Baseball-Reference.com.

"1912 Central League". Baseball-Reference.com.

"Jack McCallister – Society for American Baseball Research".

"1912 Terre Haute Terre-iers minor league baseball Roster on StatsCrew.com".
www.statscrew.com.

"1912 Central League (CL) on StatsCrew.com". www.statscrew.com.

"1913 Central League (CL) Minor League Baseball Standings on StatsCrew.com".
www.statscrew.com.

"1913 Central League". Baseball-Reference.com.

"Terre Haute Terriers". Baseball History Daily.

"1913 Terre Haute Terre-iers Statistics". Baseball-Reference.com.

"1913 Terre Haute Terre-iers minor league baseball Roster on StatsCrew.com".
www.statscrew.com.

"1914 Terre Haute Terre-iers Statistics". Baseball-Reference.com.

"1914 Terre Haute Terre-iers minor league baseball Roster on StatsCrew.com".
www.statscrew.com.

"1914 Central League". Baseball-Reference.com.

"1914 Central League (CL) Minor League Baseball Standings on StatsCrew.com".
www.statscrew.com.

"Minor League No Hitters". Google Docs.

"Art Nehf – Society for American Baseball Research".

"Daily Tribune 22 May 1915 — Hoosier State Chronicles: Indiana's Digital Historic Newspaper Program". newspapers.library.in.gov.

"1915 Terre Haute Highlanders Statistics". Baseball-Reference.com.

"1915 Central League". Baseball-Reference.com.

"1915 Terre Haute Highlanders minor league baseball Roster on StatsCrew.com".
www.statscrew.com.

"Fred Mitchell – Society for American Baseball Research".

"1916 Terre Haute Highlanders Statistics". Baseball-Reference.com.

McCormick, Mike (June 17, 2006). "Historical Perspective: Baseball season of '16 had highs, lows". Terre Haute Tribune-Star.

"1916 Terre Haute Highlanders minor league baseball Roster on StatsCrew.com".
www.statscrew.com.

"1916 Central League (CL) on StatsCrew.com". www.statscrew.com.

"1919 Terre Haute Browns Statistics". Baseball-Reference.com.

"1956 Illinois-Indiana-Iowa League". Baseball-Reference.com.

"2024 Prospect League Standings - Prospect League Baseball". www.prospectleague.com.

"REX Baseball | Terre Haute Rex Indiana summer baseball". www.rexbaseball.com. Retrieved 2018-08-06.

"2013 Terre Haute Rex Statistics". Baseball-Reference.com.

Baseball franchise coming to Terre Haute at tribstar.com, URL accessed December 30, 2009.
Archived 12/30/09

McCormick, Mike (November 6, 2016). "Historical Perspective: 'The Greatest game ever played in Terre Haute'". Terre Haute Tribune-Star. Retrieved October 16, 2024.

"Daily Tribune 29 June 1915 — Hoosier State Chronicles: Indiana's Digital Historic Newspaper Program". newspapers.library.in.gov.

McCormick, Michael (September 12, 2013). "Memorial Stadium's history a 'monument' to Terre Haute". ISU Student Media.

"Facilities". Indiana State University Athletics.

Bennett, Mark (March 13, 2010). "Terre Haute once built 'finest minor league baseball park'". Terre Haute Tribune-Star