Waveland, Sept 16 - A 16-year-old squirrel hunter, son of Mr. and Mrs. James Faulkner of Indianapolis was accidentally shot through the foot Monday morning when a shotgun his father was carrying was accidentally discharged.

Mr. Faulkner had shot once and stopped to reload his gun while the boy ran ahead of him to pick up the dead squirrel. Mr. Faulkner suddenly tripped and fell, the shotgun discharging and the charge entered young Faulkner's foot. He was treated at Dr. Noblitt's office in Waveland and later taken by ambulance to the City Hospital in Indianapolis.

Mr. and Mrs. Faulkner and their son came here Saturday to visit with Mr. Faulkner's cousin, Mrs. Cora Hazlett, living south of Waveland -- transcribed by kbz
