

FRISKY FANNIE REED

Source: Crawfordsville Weekly Journal, 16 August 1895

On Friday Mrs. Francis Reed, a colored woman residing on east Jefferson street, was cast into jail to lay out a fine of $10 and costs assessed against her for disturbing the peace. This woman is a most vicious and depraved character and her noisy profanity and disturbances have caused a vigorous protest to go up from everyone in the neighborhood. The outrage has been long endured and the police will take a care that when the frisky Fannie is released that she will have to seek other pastures. She is rather too exhilarating for prosy Crawfordsville. - Kim H
