

BYRON SWEENEY - fell in ice

Source: Weekly Argus News Feb 17, 1894 p 4

Byron Sweeney is a boy of wonderful presence of mind. He was out skating last week when the ice broke and let him in the water. There was only one boy near him and he was afraid to assist him. Byron drew himself slowly up then by turning a flip-flop threw himself safely out on the ice. He had a very narrow escape. - kbz