

BERNARD WHITE

Source: Unknown newspaper; unknown date (in Joan Oppy collection)

Bernard, the 9-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Parke White suffered a broken leg late Tuesday afternoon. After school, Reid McLain had accompanied Bernard home to spend the night in the country. Shortly after 6 o'clock the lads were playhing and in a childish wrestling match the accidnet occurred. The small bone in the left leg being broken just above the ankle. Dr. Wray was called and set the bone. No blame is place on Master Reid, the accident resulting in childish play. But Reid was scared into the belief that he had had enough of the country and could not be induced to remain over night, but started to walk back to town until some one offered him a ride back home. Little "Bill" was plucky through the unfornate ordeal, and was resting quite comfortably yesterday. -- kbz
