Mrs. Charles Wilson, Henry Hickman, Elvin Brown and Amos Warren drove over to Indianapolis, Sunday to visit Charles Wilson in the Robert Long Hospital. They found him very much better than they expected. An operation was performed Saturday to remove a growth from his throat that was slowly choking him to death. The surgeon said he would have been able to live but a few hours without its being removed. The nature of the growth has not been determined. It is thought that Mr. Wilson will be able to come home in a few days. - transcribed by kbz
