The friends and relatives of Frank Walkup gave him quite a pleasant surprise Sunday. He had gone to Frank Reynolds' and a short time after he got there Walter Bratton and a friend went after him, saying he had company. He went home and did not suspect a thing until he went into the house, when 63 merry voices greeted him and reminded him of his 36th birthday. He received several presents and the surprise was a decided success. kbz
