

Dr. John R. Thornbury (Thornberry) - family sick from meat

Source: Crawfordsville Weekly Star, Dec 8, 1887

The family of Dr. Thornbury were all taken violently sick on Tuesday from eating fresh pork which was certainly diseased. The meat was purchased at some butcher shop, the proprietor of which was evidently not aware of the condition of the hog when slaughtered. Sausage will be an unpopular article of food this winter in Crawfordsville.
