The YMCA directors met last night at the small court room. The principal business discussed was the purchase of a lot and erecting a building suitable for the purpose of the Association. The Board has several propositions which it is considering, but as yet nothing definite has been decided. Another meeting will be held next Tuesday evening, at which time the Board hopes to arrive at a satisfactory conclusion.

Friday the startling discovery was made that the floor of the gymnasium in the YMCA building had been sprung by the immense strain to which it had been subjected on New Years Day. The crowd was a big one especially in the evening and the floor sagged an inch or more. It was a hard test to which it was put. However there was no great danger but it shows that everything has its limit of strength. By tightening the tresses which support the floor it will resume its natural position and will be as good as ever.
