

Former Central Soya President Is Dead

Roy Hall, 76, former president of the Central Soya Co., died Monday at his winter home in Fort Lauderdale, Fla.

Mr. Hall, for years associated in business with D. W. McMillen, Sr., founder of McMillen Industries, became president of the Central Sugar Co. and executive vice president of Central Soya in this city Jan. 1, 1937. Two years later he became president of Central Soya.

He left the firm Sept. 26, 1942, to rejoin the certified public accounting firm of Hall, Penny and Jackson, in Chicago, as senior partner. He retired in 1960.

Surviving are his wife, Bonnie; three daughters, Mrs. R. H. Dieterich of Wilmette, Ill., Mrs. E. L. McNeely of Winnetka, Ill., and Mrs. Gilbert Younglove of Milwaukee, Wis., and seven grandchildren. A son, Mark, was killed in action while serving with the Marines on Guam during World War II.

Funeral services will be held Friday at 2 p.m. at the Bright funeral home in Crawfordsville, with burial in Oak Hills cemetery at that city.
