BIOGRAPHY:
*HISTORY: Linn County, Iowa From the A.T. Andreas Illustrated Historical Atlas of the State of Iowa, 1875 Copyright. All rights reserved.LINN COUNTY The surface of the country in Linn County is undulating, and, like Jones County, is broken into low, conical hills, with intersecting valleys running in every direction, while the general inclination is to the southeast and south, the water-shed being near the south bank of the Wapisinicon River, and extending nearly parallel with it. The soil is good, the whole county well watered, and the climate conducive to health. Well water is peculiarly pure and sparkling. The people are cheerful, busy and properous. [sic] All professions are well sustained, and industry is well rewarded. EARLY SETTLEMENT The first cabin within the limits of Linn County was built by John Mann, in Linn Grove, on what is known as Upper Big Creek, in February, 1838. It is said (though disputed by some) that he was the first white settler.
RESOURCES There is but very little waste land in Linn County. The soil is exceedingly fertile being of a rich, dark sandy loam, and of great depth. Corn, oats, wheat and potatoes are good crops – some of them superior, - while no country is better for grazing. Tobacco, sweet potatoes, grapes and sorghum are cultivated to a considerable extent. Fruits are good, especially the small fruits and berries. Apple trees do not do so well, but we believe the difficulty is not in the soil, nor in the climate, but in making a wrong selection of the kind of fruit trees, and with not raising them from the seed without transplanting, and then grafting upon the undisturbed stalk. Linn County annually exports a large quantity of wheat, corn, flaxseed, oats, barley, pork, wool, hides, beef, etc. The timber is more abundant than in most prairie counties, and it is of a superior quality. Nearly one-third of the county is covered with beautiful groves of hickory, oak, walnut, sugar maple, linn, elm, ash and other kinds of salable timber for manufacturing purposes and for fuel. Clay exists in various parts sufficient to furnish all the brick necessary for building purposes, and inexhaustible quarries of the magnisian lime stone along the Cedar and Wapsipinicon Rivers are found. At Cedar Rapids a fine quality of clay is found which is used for the manufacture of pottery. The county is well watered. Scarcely a farm but has some sort of a stream. The Cedar and Wapsipinicon with their numerous tributaries interlace almost every section. The Cedar, running in a southeasterly direction across the western part of the county, furnished an immense water-power, and whenever the time arrives for its improvement not even the Merrimack or Massachusetts will excel it. The Wapsipinicon follows the same general direction, crossing the northern mart of the county diagonally and furnishes extensive water privilege. Mills at Waubeck, Central City, Paris, etc., are never still for want of water. The streams of the county are fed by living springs, and consequently do not fall in time of drought. Fine stock, blooded horses, short horns, sheep and hogs have been imported, and the stock of the county would not suffer by comparison with the best of Illinois and Missouri.

Thomas Bassett: Farmer, Sec. 31; P. O. Ely; born in Ripley Co., Ind., in September, 1834. Married Elizabeth Gilliland in 1855; she was born in Ripley Co., Ind., in 1838; moved to Linn Co., Iowa, in 1855; they have had ten children, eight living--Sarah, Samuel, Alice, Sherman, Newton, Robert, Thomas and Eva; James deceased. Mr. Bassett owns 275 acres of land, valued at $40 per acre. Mr. and Mrs. Bassett are members of the Baptist Church. Mr. Bassett was one of the early pioneers of Linn Co., Iowa.

2. Cross Plains Baptist Church (Brown Twp., Ripley Co.) The Cross Plains Baptist Church was founded May 18, 1843 when ten men and eleven women joined and associated with the Laughery Baptist Association. The History of Switzerland Co. (p. 1162) reports that Cross Plains grew out of Brushy Fork Baptist Church, which also produced Cross Plains' first minister, the Rev. Robert Stevenson who was ordained at Brushy Fork and who preached in so many churches in Southeastern Indiana. At this point, Stevenson had not yet been ordained.
The action is reflected in the Brushy Fork minutes of the third Saturday in April 1843 which report that "the church granted Several members of dismission namely, Augustus Lathrop and wife, Henry Reed and wife and Samuel Reed and wife and Gerua D. Grover. Second the church has agreed to send six of her members to the Cross planes to aid in Constituting of a church namely John Mathis, John Christie, Robert Stevenson, Alfred Miles, Joseph Voyles, Wm Wicuff." (Punctuation added)
The original church structure was completed in June 1844 and is still in use. George A. .and Mary Roberts sold the trustees one acre for $12 on Dec. 25, 1845 in the N1/2 NW1/4 Section 28 Twp. 6N Range 12E (Ripley Co. Deed Book M p. 499.) The trustees were Augustus Lathrop, William Bassett and Thomas Bassett. The church joined the Long Run Baptist Association on the third Saturday September 1852. Messengers were J.M. Nicholson and John Bassett. The church reported forty members at the time. The church graveyard dates from at least February 1855 when it is first mentioned in church records.

Sarah Ann WALKER married Samuel Pickens on 11 Aug 1842 in Van Buren County. It appears that he passed away before the end of the decade as Sarah is living in Davis Co in the 1850 US Census with her five children age seven and under (Levi, Prudence, Elizabeth, Samuel and Joel).Is anyone working on the Walker surname in Van Buren County? Does Sarah Ann fit into your lines anywhere? Please post a reply if so. Thank you.

BIOGRAPHY:
1. History of Davis County, Iowa (1882)
William A. St. Clair, farmer and stock-raiser, section 3, was born in Muskingum County, Ohio, October 30, 1830. There he grew to manhood, and was educated in the common schools. At the age of 21, he anticipated Horace Greely's advice, and came to Linn County, Iowa, and remained there till the spring of 1853, when he went to California and mined two years; then worked two years for a flume and mining company; then returned to Linn County, Iowa. In 1857, he bought a farm, and has since followed farming. In 1879, he became a resident of this county, and owns a nice farm of 80 acres. He was married in March 1859, to Miss Celestia Dille, a native of Indiana; she lived but one year. He married again in January, 1863, Miss Mary Bassett, a native of Indiana. They have three children, Fannie M., wife of C.S. Painter; Jesse E. and Mary. Mr St. Clair and family are members of the Baptist Church, and he has been superintendent of the Sabbath school for fifteen years, and takes great interest in educational matters.

Cross Plains Baptist Church (Brown Twp., Ripley Co.) The Cross Plains Baptist Church was founded May 18, 1843 when ten men and eleven women joined and associated with the Laughery Baptist Association. The History of Switzerland Co. (p. 1162) reports that Cross Plains grew out of Brushy Fork Baptist Church, which also produced Cross Plains' first minister, the Rev. Robert Stevenson who was ordained at Brushy Fork and who preached in so many churches in Southeastern Indiana. At this point, Stevenson had not yet been ordained.
The action is reflected in the Brushy Fork minutes of the third Saturday in April 1843 which report that "the church granted Several members of dismission namely, Augustus Lathrop and wife, Henry Reed and wife and Samuel Reed and wife and Gerua D. Grover. Second the church has agreed to send six of her members to the Cross planes to aid in Constituting of a church namely John Mathis, John Christie, Robert Stevenson, Alfred Miles, Joseph Voyles, Wm Wicuff." BIOGRAPHY:
WILL OF THOMAS BASSETT, JR. I, Thomas Bassett, of Ripley County and State of Indiana do make and publish this my last Will and Testament hereby revoking and making void all former wills by me at any time heretofore made. First I direct that my body be decently interred and that my funeral be conducted in a manner corresponding with my estate and situation in life and as to such worldly estate as it has pleased God to entrust me with, I dispose of the same in the following manner to wit, direct first that all my just debts and funeral expenses be paid as soon after my death as possible out of the first money that shall come to the hands of my Executors from any portion of my estate. I direct that my land in Indiana be sold when and on such terms as my Executor shall think best for the benefit of my children and the money be kept at interest and all other moneys be put at in interest for the benefit of my children and wife if she needs it for her maintenance. My Executor is to sell at public or private sale as he may think best all of my personal property that is not wanted by me beloved wife for the use of the farm and the money to be put at interest and to be used by me wife as she may need it for the support of herself or children and she is to have the sole control of the home farm for her maintenance and the maintenance and raising of the children so long as she remains my widow, but at her death or marriage, then said home farm is to be divided between my six children to wit: Newton T. Bassett, Thomas A. Bassett, Helena V. Bassett, Margaret A. Bassett, Horace G. Bassett, and Emmett Bassett, and I further declare and direct that the share of my real and personal estate thus bequeathed to my said wife shall be in lieu of her dowery if she shall so elect and I hereby make and ordain my worhty and esteemed friends John Watts and Hosea Weatherbee Executors of this my last Will and Testament. In witness thereof I Thomas Bassett the Testator have hereunto set my hand and seal this eighth day of October in the year of our Lord eighteen hudnred and fifty eight. Thomas Bassett (his mark) Signed, sealed, published and declared by the above named Thomas Bassett as his last Will and Testament in the presence of us who have hereto subscribed our names as witnesses thereto in the presence of said Testator and in the presence of each other. Bryantsburg Presbyterian Church (Monroe Twp., Jefferson Co.) A handful of references have been found to the Bryantsburg Presbyterian Church: The first comes on Aug. 5, 1854 when the church elected William McGee, John Nichols and Andrew Woodfill as trustees. Robert Kinnear was chairman and O.J. Hamilton was secretary. The second clear reference, on April 30, 1867, ends its brief history, when, the trustees, (Jefferson Co. Deed Book 28 p. 308) John Nichols, Andrew Woodfill and William McCoy, deceased, sold one acre in the E1/2 W1/2 SE1/4 Section 11 Twp. 5N 10E, which contained property known as the Bryantsburg Presbyterian Meeting House to Josiah Bassett.

ELIZABETH BASSETT, daughter of James Bassett and Dorcas Clark
Documents enclosed to support this analysis--documents numbered on back of each page to correspond with numbers below:
Elizabeth Bassett was born around 1820 in KY. She married Minor Horton on February 27, 1840 in Ripley County, IN. (1) Elizabeth's brother Josiah Bassett married Minor's sister Elizabeth Horton on September 16, 1840 in neighboring Jefferson County, IN. (2)
Elizabeth and Minor were living on the Bassett land in the 1850 Ripley County census record. (3) They were living among the Bassett brothers and sisters with their families. Father James was deceased (1849) and mother Dorcas was living close by with two teen children still at home. Elizabeth's cousin James Bassett lived next door, Uncle Thomas Bassett lived next to him, sister Susan and Robert Henson and sister Nancy and Thomas Kinneth nearby. (4)
By 1860 Elizabeth and Minor were living in neighboring Jefferson County, IN.(5)Then by 1870 they were across the Ohio River in Trimble County, KY. (6)
Josiah and Elizabeth Bassett were mentioned in wills of both fathers. The will of James Bassett dated July 27, 1839 listed some of his children by name. He mentioned specifics for "all my children" and listed Josiah as the executor. His death date was July 18, 1849 and the probate record date was August 7, 1849. (7) The will of James Horton was dated March 16, 1861. Minor Horton, Josiah and Elizabeth Bassett were mentioned by name. Josiah was again the executor. (8)
Bassett land was deeded from Josiah and Elizabeth Horton Bassett on September 26, 1846 to Elizabeth and Minor's father (Bassett in-law) James Horton for only 100 dollars. (9) This same land was deeded by William H. Bassett (son of uncle Thomas Bassett) to Josiah Bassett February 14, 1846. (10) Land that was adjacent to that land was deeded from James and Dorcas Bassett to Josiah Bassett on March 13, 1846. (11)
Bassett land was deeded from James and Dorcas Bassett on January 21, 1848 to Minor Horton. (12) On the same day, land was deeded from Minor and Elizabeth Horton to James Bassett. Mention was made in this deed to "deduct the lot of ground sold and deeded by George Roberts to the Baptist Church of Cross Plains." (13) James Bassett was buried a year later in the Cross Plains Baptist Church Cemetery. Some of this land, with mention of the Baptist Church of Cross Plains, had been previously deeded to Minor Horton by George Roberts for 50 dollars on December 18, 1847. (14)

Land was deeded from Minor and Elizabeth Horton to James Bassett on June 10, 1850. This James Bassett was a cousin of Elizabeth's (son of Uncle Thomas) who was living with his wife Delia next to Elizabeth and Minor Horton in the 1850 census. (15 and 3). On that same day, land was also deeded from Elizabeth and Minor to Harman Vortman who lived on the other side of Elizabeth and Minor in the 1850 census. (3) Another deed dated the same date, to Harman Vortman from Elizabeth and Minor Horton, mentions land previously owned by James Bassett which was sold to Minor Horton. (16). Then on June 17, 1850 a portion of land was deeded back to Elizabeth and Minor from Harman Vortman with reference to the June 10, 1850 exchange. (17)
The census was taken on August 22, 1850. (3)
Elizabeth and Minor deeded land to Francis O'Neal on November 27, 1854. (18). Francis was married to Elizabeth Bassett's sister, Margaret Bassett O'Neal. Elizabeth and Minor moved to neighboring Jefferson County, IN.
Additonal information included from The McQuitty/McQuiddy/McQuady Family, by Edna Kay Herbst Day, published 1984 and found in the DAR Library. (19) A picture included of the plaque to honor the American Revolution Patriots who came to Ripley County from 1818-1840. (20)
Additional land deed mentioning other Bassett family members referred to above such as William H. Bassett, James and Delia Bassett, Josiah Bassett. This was dated March 16, 1854 after Elizabeth's uncle Thomas Bassett's death in March 1853. (21)
Although I could find no birth or death record for Elizabeth Bassett Horton after extensive research, I feel that all this information together leads to the conclusion that she WAS indeed the child of James and Dorcas Bassett.
As an added notation, ALL the Ripley County, IN Bassetts that I have found are directly descended from the common Revolutionary War ancestor William Bassett, Sr. William and wife Peggy were buried on the family farm, high up on a hill. Their graves are now surrounded by large trees and brush, and a barbed wire fence to keep out animals.
Thanks very much for the consideration.

BIOGRAPHY: From Janice Morgan:
I am seeking information about James Horton (b ca 1778 Virginia - d 16 March 1861 Ripley County), married 13

February 1823 Jefferson County to Elizabeth Minor (b ca 1790 Kentucky - d 20 October 1863 New Albany, Floyd County, Indiana), James Horton and Elizabeth Minor divorced in Jefferson County in 1845. James remarried Jemima Chuzac (b ca 1800 in Ohio County) in Ohio County 24 October 1846. James Horton had six sons: William (b ca 1814), Josiah (b ca 1815), Minor (b ca 1818) m 1840 to Elizabeth Bassett (b ca 1820), James W. (b ca 1823), John T. (b ca 1825), Isaac J. (b ca 1831). Four daughters: Martha (b 21 May 1820) m John P. Zimmerman, Elizabeth (b ca 1822) m 1840 Josiah Bassett, Hannah (b ca 1833) m ? Comstock, Tabitha (b ca 1835) m 1853 John N. Sebastion. I am a descendant of James, Minor s/o James, James M. E. s/o Minor, William Henry s/o James M. E., John Earl, s/o William Henry.

BIOGRAPHY: from Bob Scott:
Minor Horton joined the Milton Baptist Church in Milton Twp. Jefferson Co. on the 2nd Saturday Nov. 1852. ON the 3rd Saturday Feb. 1857. the Church had a request from Rykers Ridge to assist in council on Horton's ordination. He preached at Milton a few times in the late 1850s and was licensed in 1858. (A licensed minister was apparently a step lower than an ordained one.) I don't know what happened in the interim but on the 2nd Saturday April 1860 the church voted against Horton's ordination. In May there was a council of churches considering the ordination. The vote must have been against him for on the 2nd Saturday in May 1860, Horton asked for a letter of dismission from Milton.Other Hortons in this church were James Horton b. ca. 1824 who m. Julia Hall.

BIOGRAPHY: Minor was the co-defendant with his father in the divorce of his parents on 10 April 1845.

BIOGRAPHY: Election held at Jefferson County Shelby Township Ind. Names of Voters and Number of Votes Polled at October 1852.

  One of the major sources for my records has been the research papers of William G Scroggins (third cousin to me). Many of his research papers are posted at wgscroggins.kueber.us .
  Many of my recent additions to this site came from the works of Charlie Cook (third cousin once removed to me) and Phyllis Shackelford Hedges (fourth cousin once removed to me) who have both been very helpful to me. You may view their sites at Genealogy of Charlie Cook and YESTERYEAR'S FOOTSTEPS . Also very helpful to me has been the work of Carol Olson (wife of a sixth cousin to me). You may view her site at Silliman Kurtz Olson Hafslund Ancestors.

E-mail, July 2011:
Hi,

I Just read your entry on the Internet about William Bassett and Margaret McQuiddy. I am descended from both daughters--Sarah and Harriet. Sarah's son, John Nicholson married Sarah Glaze. Their oldest girl, Mary Jane, married Harriet's oldest son, George Washington Wade. John Nicholson and G. W. Wade families eventually made it to Nuckollls County Neb. where my mother was born--then to Kansas City area where I now live. Several years ago my husband and I visited the Bassett and Nicholson graves on the farm near Cross Plains, IN. It was a thrill believe me!! We obtained addresses of others who had visited the place, contacted them, and learned a lot more. One was Frank Bassett from Thomas Bassett's Line. We eventually visited him in Seattle, wrote letters etc. He eventually published a book mostly about his branch but he included some of ours. I have been fascinated by Wm.'s story. My daughter and I joined our DAR chapter through him. One of my son's and his son belong to SAR . Thanks for sharing all that information of which I knew a lot but not all of it. My daughter and I plan to go thru Versailles and Cross Plains, IN this August on our way to Bristol, VA. Now tell me about you and your line.

Sincerely,

Eunice Martin

Dear Son & Daughter
It is in sorrow we pen these lines to you. Your Dear Father is no more.
he died last Wednesday, the 11 after a long spell of sickness, towards the last he suffered a great deal of pain until a few hours before he breathed His last, which was a peaceful Death, he was sensible until the last, he said he would like to see you. Sude was the only child that was here when he died but the rest had been here and had gone home to do aoh there Chores intending to come back as soon as possible.
We dearly Moarne his Loss although our loss is his gain.
The funeral servis was preached at Linn grove Chur. By Elder Dewitt from this text,
The forty seventh Chapter of Genesis & the 8 and part of the ninth verse the last word is been.
I suppose you will be anxious to know what I will do I will still stay on the farm, he made a Will and Willed it all to me my life time. I buried him in a shroud, I will send you a piece of it the flanel is the Shroud & the white velvit is the trimming and some of his hair. his coffin was a 7 s'dolas Cask very nice, and he looked very Natural to be sick so long.
We was intending to write you a letter week before last but neglected it to long. the friends are all well but my own health is not very good. Wm Stclair's Sister Mary is staying with me. Wm Dower is farming the place we furnish every thing and give him one half in the Bushell and he does our chores and has been all winter. he lives in the old Pfinger house. Your Aunt Linda lives in Madisen County with Miller, her health is very poorely. Will has his wheet & oats sown and will comense to plow fer corn tomorrow if it don't rain it did rain a little this Evening. Well I believe I can not think of any more to wite but you answer this soon as you can as we would like to hear from you.

No more at this time but I remain your affecticnate Mother, Nancy Bassett

Historical notes added by Ronald Bassett:

The letter seems to be addressed to son William M. BASSETT, as family lived for 4 years [ca 1875-1879] in Mercer County MO. "Sude" could be daughter Susanah; Wm St Clair is daughter Mary/Polly's husband. Wm Dower may be son (born 1836, Indiana) of Henry DOWERS and Malinda BASSETT

1843 - Cross Plains Baptist Church (Brown Twp., Ripley Co. Indiana) Founded May 18, 1843 and associated with the Laughery Baptist Association. The History of Switzerland Co. (p. 1162) reports that Cross Plains grew out of Brushy Fork Baptist Church.

Brushy Fork minutes of April 1843 report that "the church granted Several members of dismission namely, Augustus Lathrop and wife, Henry Reed and wife and Samuel Reed and wife and Gerua D. Grover. The church agreed to send six members to Cross [Plains] to aid in Constituting of a church namely John Mathis, John Christie, Robert Stevenson, Alfred Miles, Joseph Voyles, Wm Wicuff." (Punctuation added) The original church structure was completed in June 1844. George A. .and Mary Roberts sold the trustees one acre for $12 on Dec. 25, 1845 in the N1/2 NW1/4 Section 28 Twp. 6N Range 12E (Ripley Co. Deed Book M p. 499.) The trustees were Augustus Lathrop, William Bassett and Thomas Bassett. The church joined the Long Run Baptist Association on the third Saturday September 1852. Messengers were J.M. Nicholson and John Bassett. The church reported forty members at the time. The church graveyard dates from at least February 1855 when it is first mentioned in church records.

47. i. NANCY SHREVE, the eldest child of Jonathan Shreve and Elizabeth Myers, was b. in Ripley Co., Ind., May 10th, 1814; m. William Bassett in Ripley Co., Ind., June 18th, 1829. She resides in Mount Vernon, Iowa. Mrs. Bassett was married at her father's home to her husband, a young farmer, by the Rev. Macintosh, Baptist minister of Middle Fork Church. At once commenced house keeping in a one and one-half story hewed log house of four rooms, about one mile from her father's, living there about fifteen years. They sold this farm and bought 280 acres of land near by, mostly covered with a dense growth of timber and underbrush, where they moved and lived in enjoyment for about twelve years, when again they sold their property, moved to Cross Plains, Ind., where Mr. Bassett formed a co-partnership with his son-in-law, Jacob Lacock, they buying a carding and fueling mill in connection with a grist and saw mill, with 50 acres of land. They were dissatisfied with business life and again sold their property, seeking a home in the then thinly settled county of Linn, Iowa. In this county, with their family, in 1855,

They located on a farm adjoining Linn Grove. They again sold their property and moved to Mount Vernon, a small country town. At this time they purchased a farm one and one-half miles north of the place to which they moved. Here Mr. Bassett died, and she operated the farm for five years. She then sold it and moved to Mount Vernon, Iowa, where she now resides, having purchased property there.

  2. Looking for information on Craig's Station, KY, in the 1785 period. Craig's Station may have been near present-day Danville in what was then Lincoln or Mercer County (now Boyle County).
  I believe families named ROE, BASSETT, and McQUIDDY may have been at Craig's Station about 1785 when it was burned by the Indians. I believe the families originated in Spotsylvania Co, VA
  Any information you might have on Craigs's Station, its true location, the names of its inhabitants, and the circumstances of its burning by the Indians would be greatly appreciated. Merritt D. Mullen :

  BIOGRAPHY: My gg-grandfather was James CLAXON (1805-1843), son of Cassius CLAXON (1782-1872). Cassius was sheriff of Owen County for a while. I particularly need information on the parents of Cassius' wife, Nancy ROE (1782-1858), who was apparently an orphan raised by William Bassett and his wife, Margaret McQuiddy. Were Nancy's parents killed in an Indian raid in the 1780s? (Merritt D. Mullen)

I am descended from William Bassett and Margaret McQuiddy thru their son Thomas (m. Mary Jackson) and his son Stephen (m. Eliza Sebring). Stephen and Eliza are my great great grand parents. Their daughter Lucinda m. John M. Fleming and their son Jess was my grandfather. I am interested in any information you have or any connections you have regarding this line. I am also interested in the light blue eyes you mentioned. My son and 4 of my grand children (his children) have the most amazing light blue eyes. I have recently discovered that one of my brothers also had them. We never understood where they came from. Ever since my son was born 30 years ago, I have had people remark on his eyes (and for the last 8 years on his children's) and how unusual they seem to be. Thank you for any help you can be.

5. Franklin County, Kentucky
The Battle of River Raisin January 22, 1813 (http://www.rootsweb.com/~kyfrankl/r-raisin.htm)
The most dire calamity that ever befell the people of Franklin County happened during this decade (1810-1820). The history of the war Between the United States and Great Britain; the causes which led up to and the sequences which followed are a part of national history. The United States army in the northwest was composed almost exclusively of Kentuckians, a history of which is properly a part of history of the State. Franklin County, however, did more than just proportional part. She furnished more men, and more money, and she gave more of her heroic blood for the honor and glory of this great country than could have reasonably been expected from one community.
Two full companies enlisted from Franklin County, the first under Paschel or Perchal Hickman. As Captain he was mustered into the service, August 15, 1812 and his company was known as Captain Paschel Hickman's Company, first rifle regiment, Kentucky Militia. It was engaged on October 14, 1812.
The eight-six men composing this company were all killed at the Battle of the River Raisin, except thirteen of them. Only twelve of whom are known at this date to have returned to their homes in Franklin County; Lieut. Peter Dudley, Alexander Rennick, Joseph Clark, Lewis Fenwick, Elisha Herndon, John A. Holton, Z. B. Lewis, Francis Mayhall, John Mayhall, John Richardson, Alexander Robertson and James Wilson.

My Hortons were in Ripley County at this time, as was this other Horton family. I am trying to find a link between the two. Josiah and Elizabeth Bassett are mentioned as the primary benefactors in the will of James Horton in 1861. Now I know that Elizabeth was his daughter...thanks! I'd like to know more about your Bassett family if you can email me at ned@hortongroup.com. My website has some Ripley County data as well. Thanks again.

BIOGRAPHY:
1. Limpsfield, Surrey, England: Limpsfield, on the Surrey/Kent border is one of England's most attractive historic villages with records back to the Domesday Book. Even today it has a church and houses which date from the 12th Century and many more from the 13th through to the 16th Centuries. It is set in beautiful countryside at the foot of the North Downs and only some 21 miles due south of London on the Greenwich Meridian.
The 12th Century Parish Church of St. Peter at the foot of Limpsfield High Street is the burial place of several famous musicians including Frederick Delius, Sir Thomas Beecham and Eileen Joyce.
Limpsfield History.
This brief coverage of the history of Limpsfield Parish is totally insufficient to cover the interests of all those who may read this. For those who wish to delve deeper please check out the references at the end of this page.
Limpsfield lies just to the south of a range of chalk hills now known as the North Downs, some 21 miles south of central London. The Parish is approximately six miles long, from the top of Titsey Hill in the north to Staffhurst Wood in the south, by two and a half miles wide from Moorhouse in the east to the Oxted boundary in the west at its widest point.
The local geology comprises greensand and clays lying at the foot of chalk hills (The North Downs) which lends itself both to agricultural land and to extraction of specialist sands, clays, chalk and fullers earth and there is evidence of settlements back to the stone and bronze ages with a number of flint and bronze artefacts discovered in the area, as well as evidence of old clay workings, ironstone workings and sand pits. However much of the earlier history has to be derived from archaeological investigations with the first written records coming from the Domesday Book in 1086.
Prior to William 1st's victory over King Harold in 1066, Limpsfield was probably part of a private estate thought to have been owned by King Harold. This presumably followed on from Roman involvement in the area - remains of a Roman villa have been found at Titsey (the location of the Lords of the Manor of Limpsfield, although strictly outside the Parish boundary) and a minor Roman road (from London to Lewes) crosses the Parish. However, after William's victory over Harold, and the latter's death, the lands were ceded to the Abbot of Battle. At the time of the Domesday Book entry the population was around 200, and there was a mill, a fishery, the church, 2 stone quarries, '150 pigs from pasturage' and 'three hawks nests in the woodland', possibly suggesting the breeding of hawks for hunting.
The current parish church of St. Peter was constructed in the late 12th Century and is presumed to have replaced an even earlier Saxon church mentioned in the Domesday Book. Old Court Cottage in the village was built as the Abbot of Battle's courthouse between 1190 and 1200. Thought to have been substantially altered around 1400 it still retains a number of extremely interesting internal features. There are also a number of other houses (nine) in the High Street which date back to mediaeval times (although several now have much more modern frontages) having been constructed initially in the 13th, 14th and 15th centuries. One of these houses was a butcher's shop from the 15th century up until the early 1970s! There are also more than 20 other mediaeval houses within the parish.
Churches:
There are three Anglican churches in Limpsfield - the Parish church of St. Peter off Limpsfield High Street - St. Andrew on Limpsfield Chart and St. Silvan in Staffhurst Wood. There are Roman Catholic and United Reform churches in neighbouring Oxted.
St. Peter, Limpsfield
Built: 12th century - extended 19th century. Listed grade 1
The Church is sited within a large graveyard on high ground adjacent to the North side of Limpsfield High Street. It comprises a Nave, Chancel, Chapel, North and South Aisles, a Tower sited adjacent to the Chancel, and a South Porch. There is a mezzanine level within the Tower base which functions as a Choir Vestry and Store. The principal approach is by a broad footpath leading up from the public highway which is paved with ironstone laid on edge.
The building is dominated by the Tower c.1180 which is massive and sited, unusually, adjacent to the South side of the Chancel. Fragments of the twelfth century Nave remain but these are substantially buried and pierced by later work. The Chancel and Chapel ("the Gresham Chapel") and South Aisle were built during the 13th century. The South Porch was added during the 16th century.
Old Court Cottage
The Hamlets
While Limpsfield village was the principal settlement in the Parish, there were also a number of hamlets falling within it - and these mostly retain their separate identities today.
Moorhouse on the Kent border ('moor' thought to have come from the Old English 'meer' meaning border or boundary), centred round a mediaeval hall house and a small area of enclosed common land.
The Chart - now relatively densely populated - but which had only consisted of around ten cottages up until the start of the 20th Century is centred on Limpsfield Common.

Pains Hill is situated on an ancient trackway dating from the iron age, with three mediaeval hall houses as well as some other very old dwellings.*

Langhurst is a farming area with more scattered dwellings, but virtually all the farms in the area today retain extensive remains of early houses - several of which are substantial mediaeval dwellings.

These hamlets are all on the extensive areas of common land in the area, and the fact that the Lords of the Manor would not contemplate the enclosing of this common land when they were under pressure to do so back in the 19th Century is the principal reason why this area remains comparatively undeveloped in relation to some of the surrounding Parishes. This in turn accounts for the Parish's continuing rural character despite the area's proximity to central London and to the railway line through neighbouring Oxted.

Much of this summary of the history of Limpsfield comes from two sources - Limpsfield Ancient & Modern, edited by Peter Gray and published by the Limpsfield History Group, and from a report prepared on the 25th Anniversary of the National Trust taking control of Limpsfield Common by Shirley Corke. Both these publications are out of print, but a few copies may still be available. Anyone interested in these or other publications on the area are advised to contact The Limpsfield Bookshop, High Street, Limpsfield, Surrey. Phone/Fax +44 (0)1883 714034.

7. More Emigrants in Bondage, 1614-1775 [NO Wm Bassett listed]

About this book Source: Original data: Coldham, Peter Wilson. More Emigrants in Bondage, 1614-1775. Baltimore, MD, USA: Genealogical Publishing Co., 2002. Description:

Between 1614 and 1775 more than 50,000 English men, women, and children were sentenced to be deported to the American colonies for crimes ranging from the theft of a handkerchief to bigamy or highway robbery. After years of painstaking research, the names of nearly all those transported were extracted from official court records by Peter Coldham and published in the landmark work The Complete Book of Emigrants in Bondage in 1988 and its Supplement in 1992, forming the largest and most complete passenger list of its kind ever published. From this unexpected source the researcher at last had the means of learning the names of the persons transported to the colonies, the charges against them, the dates and places of sentencing, the ship names, and the places of arrival in the colonies.

The original volume of Emigrants in Bondage published in 1988 acknowledged that there were some notable omissions from the list of transported felons then printed, which remained to be researched and remedied. The Supplement of 1992 began to supply the omissions, but now with the publication of More Emigrants in Bondage, Mr. Coldham has closed the remaining gaps. Altogether there are some 9,000 new and amended records in this important new work, which is arranged and annotated in the same way as the parent volume. To the original list of 50,000 records, these additions come as a windfall, arising from the availability of previously closed archival resources and the re-examination of conventional transportation records such as Assize Court records, Circuit Court records, and the quaintly-named Sheriffs' Cravings, to which can be added newspapers and printed memoirs.

The addition of 9,000 records to the canon makes this the most important list of ships' passengers to be published in years. Whether as a list of additions or corrections, this new work is an indispensable tool in the researcher's arsenal, and anyone using the parent volume and supplement cannot possibly ignore this volume. Questions about the peopling of colonial America come readily to mind when looking at a book like this--questions about ancestors, too--and the answers found here are both challenging and surprising.

The history of the British 4th Battalion, New Jersey Volunteers.

The year 1778 progressed rather uneventfully for the 4th battalion. They chiefly garrisoned Staten Island along with the 1st and 3rd battalions and made a few raids into New Jersey. At the end of September, they were a part of the army under Lord CORNWALLIS that foraged in Bergen County and led to the destruction of the 3rd Continental Light Dragoons near Old Tappan.

While the battalion did not take part in that action, they did take a few prisoners at this time and took the opportunity to recruit some men and bring many of their families within the British Lines. It was one of the tragedies of the war that families of the combatants of both sides were often left to tend the farms in a hostile countryside.

BIOGRAPHY:
1782: Danial Boone's account of the 19 August 1782 "Battle of Blue Licks" at which it is believed Wm Bassett may have been involved, and Boone's son, Israel, was killed. However, no record of the Bassett's involvement have been found.
"On the eighteenth day Col. Todd, Col. Trigg, Major Harland, and myself, speedily collected one hundred and seventy-six men, well armed, and pursued the savages. They had marched beyond the Blue Licks to a remarkable bend of the main fork of Licking River, about forty-three miles from Lexington, as it is particularly represented in the map, where we overtook them on the nineteenth day. The savages observing us, gave way; and we, being ignorant of their numbers, passed the river. When the enemy saw our proceedings, having greatly the advantage of us in situation, they formed the line of battle, represented in the map, from one bend of Licking to the other, about a mile from the Blue Licks. An exceeding fierce battle immediately began, for about fifteen minutes, when we, being over-powered by numbers, were obliged to retreat, with the loss of sixty-seven men; seven of whom were taken prisoners. The brave and much lamented Colonels Todd and Trigg, Major Harland and my second son, were among the dead. We were informed that the Indians, numbering their dead, found they had four killed more than we; and therefore, four of the prisoners they had taken, were, by general consent, ordered to be killed, in a most barbarous manner, by the young warriors, in order to train them up to cruelty; and then they proceeded to their towns.

On our retreat we were met by Col. Logan, hastening to join us, with a number of well armed men: This powerful assistance we unfortunately wanted in the battle; for, notwithstanding the enemy's superiority of numbers, they acknowledged that, if they had received one more fire from us, they should undoubtedly have given way. So valiantly did our small party fight, that, to the memory of those who unfortunately fell in the battle, enough of honour cannot be paid. Had Col. Logan and his party been with us, it is highly probable we should have given the savages a total defeat.

I cannot reflect upon this dreadful scene, but sorrow fills my heart. A zeal for the defence of their country led these heroes to the scene of action, though with a few men to attack a powerful army of experienced warriors. When we gave way, they pursued us with the utmost eagerness, and in every quarter spread destruction. The river was difficult to cross, and many were killed in the flight, some just entering the river, some in the water, others after crossing in ascending the cliffs. Some escaped on horseback, a few on foot; and, being dispersed every where, in a few hours, brought the melancholy news of this unfortunate battle to Lexington. Many widows were now made. The reader may guess what sorrow filled the hearts of the inhabitants, exceeding any thing that I am able to describe. Being reinforced, we returned to bury the dead, and found their bodies strewed every where, cut and mangled in a dreadful manner. This mournful scene exhibited a horror almost unparalleled: Some torn and eaten by wild beasts; those in the river eaten by fishes; all in such a putrified condition, that no one could be distinguished from another.

As soon as General Clark, then at the Falls of the Ohio, who was ever our ready friend, and merits the love and gratitude of all his country-men, understood the circumstances of this unfortunate action, he ordered an expedition, with all possible haste, to pursue the savages, which was so expeditiously effected, that we overtook them within two miles of their towns, and probably might have obtained a great victory, had not two of their number met us about two hundred poles before we come up. These returned quick as lightening to their camp with the alarming news of a mighty army in view. The savages fled in the utmost disorder, evacuated their towns, and reluctantly left their territory to our mercy. We immediately took possession of Old Chelicothe without opposition, being deserted by its inhabitants. We continued our pursuit through five towns on the Miami rivers, Old Chelicothe, Pecaway, New Chelicothe, Will's Towns, and Chelicothe, burnt them all to ashes, entirely destroyed their corn, and other fruits, and every where spread a scene of desolation in the country. In this expedition we took seven prisoners and five scalps, with the loss of only four men, two of whom were accidentally killed by our own army.

This campaign in some measure damped the spirits of the Indians, and made them sensible of our superiority. Their connections were dissolved, their armies scattered, and a future invasion put entirely out of their power; yet they continued to practise mischief secretly upon the inhabitants, in the exposed parts of the country."

1782: Served under George Rogers Clark Shawnee Expedition in Capt. James Ray's Company of Lincoln Militia.

War of 1812, : William Bassett shown as Private, enlisted 15 Aug 1812 to 14 Oct 1812, Capt. William Kerley's Co., First Rifle Regiment, KY. Son James also served, with Daniel Boone's 2nd cousin, Issac Boone.

CRAIG'S STATION (BURNT STATION)

John Craig's Station, which housed Baptists seeking religious freedom, was established in 1779 along David's Fork, near present-day Winchester Road (U.S. 60), east of Lexington. Craig family members, including John, Joseph, Lewis, and Elijah, were associated with the Traveling Church , a Baptist sect that moved an entire congregation from Virginia to Kentucky. Several Traveling Church families settled at Craig's Station on Christmas Eve in 1779 and lived in crude log shelters during one of the most severe winters on record. Four cabins, possibly with an enclosing stockade, were built the next year. When a planned Indian attack was reported in March of 1781, the inhabitants fled to Daniel Boone's Station near what is now Athens, Kentucky. Within hours after they abandoned Craig's Station, an Indian raiding party burned the settlement, which led to its second name.

BIOGRAPHY: Historical date-line as shown in the book Dragoon Diary, by C.F. William Maurer, with some information provided by Ronald Bassett:
- 9 January, 1777: Gen. Washington appoints Col. Baylor as commander of a Regiment of Horse.
- April 1777: Col. George Baylor is in Virginia to recruit troopers into 3rd Cont. Light Dragoons
- June 1777: Baylor's unit is short 130 men
- July 1777: Bland near Bondbrook, NJ; moved through Trenton
- 21 August 1777: Col's Baylor & Bland ordered to march from "crossroads" to Trenton.
- 23 Aug: From Nicetown, PA., through Philadelphia.
- 26 Aug: Under command of Count Pulaski, Baylor & Bland with 10,000 men located SW of Wilmington. Dragoons go with Gen. Washington to reconnoiter the British, who are landing troops.
- 29 Aug: Washington orders all troops out of Philadelphia.
- 11 Sept: Battle of Brandywine.
- 21 Sept: Count Pulaski, Chief of the American Light Dragoons, as Brigadier General.
- 4 Oct: Washington attacks Germantown, Light Horse used for communications.
- 2 Nov: Army moves to Whitemarsh.
- 15 Nov: Three troops of Col. Baylor's Regiment are at White Marsh. [Same as White Plains?]
- 4 - 5 Dec: Possible British attack on HQ at White Marsh. Bland's & Baylor's Regiments of Light Dragoons to watch enemy movements.
- 5 - 7 Dec: Battle around White Marsh.
- 18 Dec: Winter quarters at Valley Forge. 3rd CLD were quartered in NJ.
- 1 Jan, 1778: 3d Continental Light Dragoons had 11 officers, 19 NCOs, 5 staff officers, 92 Rank & File, 127 total.
- 25 March: Dragoons to be headquartered in Evesham and Springfield.
- 6 April: 3rd Dragoons are in Trenton, NJ.
- 18 May: Clough's dragons take part in attack during a British dance ball.
- 29 May: White & blue material bought for 3rd CLD uniforms.
- 10 June: All Cavalry ordered to assemble at Valley Forge.
- 28 June: 3rd CLD harass British rear guard, then are forced into battle near Monmouth Court House. Dragoons used as messengers between Commander in Chief and Field officers. Washington sends a note to Gen. Lee, by member of 1st troop, Third Dragoons, assigned to the Commander in Chief's personal Guard. Lee disregards note, Lee is court martialed by Washington.
- 23 July: Letter from Washington to Col. Bland, have troops inoculated for Small Pox.[Noted by Bassett]
- 28 July: Hackensack, NJ. Maj. Clough (1st CLD) and 80 dragoons forage for livestock near Bergen Point.
- 20 Sept: Col. Baylor returns to take command of 3rd CLD from Maj. Alexander Clough, at the regimental camp in Hackensack, Bergen Co., NJ. Baylor notifies Washington that he had a "pattern coat" which was to be the fashion of the regiment, and unit would be uniformed by springtime. Thus it seems that the unit was not in a standard uniform at this time. Note: Washington had great respect for Baylor, formally his aide-de-camp, and attached the First Troop of The Commander in Chief's Guard to the 3rd CLD [Known as Martha Washington's Own or Martha's Horse]. This troop was part of the elite household guard, tasked to protect the person of General & Mrs. Washington. Lt. George Lewis, son of Washington's sister, was second in command of this troop. Men in this guard would be between 5' 8" and 5' 10" tall, well drilled, and handsomely and well built. On 26 Sept Capt. Lewis's First Troop rejoined the regiment in Peramus, but Capt. Lewis was not with them. Most of this unit was from Massachusetts.

- About 27 Sept: Washington orders Col. Baylor to join Putnam's Brigade at Clarks Town, 3CLD were quartered in Harrington, now known as River Vale, NJ, originally part of the Tappan patent and then known as Old Tappan. This position put the unit between the American Army at Clarks Town and British foraging units.

- 27 Sept: 3rd CLD leave Paramus in early morning and take up position near Hackensack River, often called "over the kill", some three miles from Tappan Village. The troop was familiar with area, as after the Battle of Monmouth the previous spring, they had passed through the area en route to positions around Hackensack and Paramus. This location was known by various names, including Haring town, Old Tappan, and today it is township of River Vale, NJ.

- 28 Sept, 1778: Col. Baylor's force consisted of about 12 officers and 104 enlisted men, with many officers and enlisted men being utilized on detached service. At about 3 am the British, assisted by local Tory guides, made a surprise bayonet assault on the sleeping dragoons housed in several houses and barns. With cries of "No quarter,""Skiver him,""Kill him!" 57 dragoons and 9 officers were cut down, wounded or taken prisoner. None of the dragoons was younger than 18 or older than 26. Both Col. Baylor and Maj. Clough were wounded.

- 27 Nov: Unit sent to Frederick or "Hagar's Town", Maryland.

- 28 Feb 1779: Frederick, MD, Strength Report shows 18 Rank and File are listed as Present/Sick, 3 Absent/Sick.

- 8 March: 3rd CLD ordered to furnish a guard for the Convention Army marching to Charlottesville.

- 7 May: 3rd CLD ordered to the south without delay, joining Col. Bland's regiment.

- 21 May: Washington orders Col. Wm Washington to proceed therewith to the Southern Army.

- May 1779: Pvt. Wm Bassett's declaration states "he was honorably discharged in writing by Capt. John Stith by Command of Col. Baylor in the month of May 1779." It is assumed the discharge was made due to wounds and prior to the units move to join the Southern Army.

1779 - The Move West:

It is believed that William joined Daniel Boone, with a group of Baptists, into Kentucky in about 1780. This may have been the same group that included Boone's family, which had been living in North Carolina.

1781 - March, 1781, Inhabitants of Craig's Station fled to Daniel Boone's Station near what is now Athens, Kentucky. Within hours after they abandoned Craig's Station, an Indian raiding party burned the settlement, which led to its second name. [This may be when William's war records were burned, per his declaration of service]

1782: Served under George Rogers Clark Shawnee Expedition, in Capt. James Ray's Company of Lincoln Militia.

1782 - 19 August 1782: Battle of Blue Licks was fought on August 19, 1782, and was the last battle of the American Revolutionary War fought in Kentucky.

With the remaining force of approximately 50 British rangers and 300 American Indians, Caldwell and McKee crossed into Kentucky. They hoped to surprise the settlement of Bryan's Station, but the settlers had learned of the approach of the army and "forted up." Caldwell and McKee's force laid siege to Bryan's Station on August 15, 1782, but withdrew on August 17 when they learned that a force of Kentucky militia was on the way.

The Kentucky militia who came to the relief of Bryan's Station on August 18 consisted of about 47 men from Fayette County and about 135 from Lincoln County. The highest-ranking officer, Colonel John Todd of the Fayette militia, was in overall command; under him were two lieutenant colonels, Stephen Trigg of Lincoln County and Daniel Boone of Fayette County.

The Kentuckians reached the Licking River on the morning of August 19, near a spring and salt lick known as the Lower Blue Licks. On the other side of the river, a few Indian scouts could be seen. Behind the Indians was a hill around which the river made a loop. Colonel Todd called a council and asked [Daniel] Boone, the most experienced woodsman, for his opinion. Boone, who had been growing increasingly suspicious about the overly obvious trail the Indians had been leaving, advised his fellow officers that the Indians were trying to draw them into an ambush.

Major McGary, apparently eager to prove that he was not a coward as Todd's earlier criticism had suggested, urged an immediate attack. He mounted his horse and rode across the ford in the river, shouting, "Them that ain't cowards, follow me." Men began to follow, as did the officers, who hoped to at least make an orderly attack. "We are all slaughtered men," said Boone as he crossed the river.

On the other side of the river, most of the men dismounted and formed into a battle line of three or four divisions. They advanced up the hill, Todd and McGary in the center, Trigg on the right, Boone on the left. As Boone had suspected, Caldwell's force was waiting on the other side of the hill, concealed in ravines. As the Kentuckians reached the summit, the Indians opened fire with devastating effect. After only five minutes, the center and right of the Kentucky line gave way; only Boone's men on the left managed to push forward. Todd and Trigg, easy targets on horseback, were quickly shot down.

The Kentuckians began to flee wildly back down the hill, fighting hand-to-hand with the Indians who had flanked them. McGary rode up to Boone's company and told him that everyone was retreating and that Boone was now surrounded. Boone gathered his men for a withdrawal. He grabbed a riderless horse and ordered his son, Israel Boone, to mount and make an escape. Israel refused to leave his father, however, and was shot through the neck as Daniel searched for another horse. Boone saw that his son's wound was mortal, mounted the horse, and fled.

1786 - 22 Nov 1786: He was married at Mercer, Kentucky, to Margaret "Peggy" McQuiddy.

1791 - 14 Apr 1791 to 08 Oct 1808: Seven children born at Simpson, (Franklin Co), Kentucky.
14 July 1811: Last child born at Brooksville, Bracken, Kentucky.

1811: The Battle of Tippecanoe was fought in 1811 between United States forces led by Governor William Henry Harrison of the Indiana Territory. [An old family letter states it is belived William was "a captain" at the battle, but there is no record to prove it]

1812 - 15 Aug/14 Oct 1812: War of 1812: William Bassett shown as Private, enlisted 15 Aug 1812 to 14 Oct 1812, Capt. William Kerley's Co., First Rifle Regiment, KY. Son James also served, with Daniel Boone's 2nd cousin, Isaac Boone.

Daniel Boone:
Bassett family oral history/legend states that Wm Bassett and the McQuiddys were close friends of Daniel Boone, and Bassett is assumed to have come to Kentucky with Boone in Sept. 1779. Peggy McQuiddy's brother, John, was Boone's blacksmith.

In 1778 Boone and his men captured by Shawnees while making salt on February 9; he escapes in June; siege of Boonesborough, September 7-18; rejoins Rebecca and children, who had returned to North Carolina.

Sept, 1779 Leads large party of emigrants from North Carolina to Kentucky in September; December 25 settles Boone's Station, north of the Kentucky River, among these settlers were Abraham Lincoln's grandmother and grandfather.

1780 Participates in attack on Shawnee towns in Ohio; brother Edward killed by Shawnees in October. "I settled my family in Boonsborough once more; and shortly after, on the sixth day of October 1780, I went in company with my brother to the Blue Licks; and, on our return home, we were fired upon by a party of Indians." Daniel Boone 1781 Takes elected seat in Virginia assembly in April; captured by invading British forces in June, but soon released.

1782 One of the commanding officers at the Kentuckians' defeat by Indians at the Blue Licks, where son Israel is killed, August 19; in command of a company that attacks Shawnee towns in November.

Boone returned to North Carolina in order to bring his family back to Kentucky. In the autumn of 1779, a large party of emigrants came with him, including the grandfather of Abraham Lincoln. Rather than remain in Boonesborough, Boone founded the nearby settlement of Boone's Station. Boone began earning money at this time by locating good land for other settlers. Transylvania land claims had been invalidated after Virginia created Kentucky County, and so settlers needed to file new land claims with Virginia. In 1780, Boone collected about $20,000 in cash from various settlers and traveled to Williamsburg to purchase their land warrants. While he was sleeping in a tavern during the trip, the cash was stolen from his room. Some of the settlers forgave Boone the loss; others insisted that he repay the stolen money, which took him several years to do.
A popular image of Boone which emerged in later years is that of the backwoodsman who had little affinity for "civilized" society, moving away from places like Boonesborough when they became "too crowded". In reality, however, Boone was a leading citizen of Kentucky at this time. When Kentucky was divided into three Virginia counties in November 1780, Boone was promoted to lieutenant colonel in the Fayette County militia. In April 1781, Boone was elected as a representative to the Virginia General Assembly, which was held in Richmond. In 1782, he was elected sheriff of Fayette County.[21] Meanwhile, the American Revolutionary War continued. Boone joined General George Rogers Clark's invasion of the Ohio country in 1780, fighting in the Battle of Piqua on 7 August. In October, when Boone was hunting with his brother Ned, Shawnees shot and killed Ned. Apparently thinking that they had killed Daniel Boone, the Shawnees beheaded Ned and took the head home as a trophy. In 1781, Boone traveled to Richmond to take his seat in the legislature, but British dragoons under Banastre Tarleton captured Boone and several other legislators near Charlottesville. The British released Boone on parole several days later. During Boone's term, Cornwallis surrendered at Yorktown in October 1781, but the fighting continued in Kentucky unabated. Boone returned to Kentucky and in August 1782 fought in the Battle of Blue Licks, in which his son Israel was killed. In November 1782, Boone took part in another Clark expedition into Ohio, the last major campaign of the war.

Boone's own story

On the twenty-second day of June 1780, a large party of Indians and Canadians, about six hundred in number, commanded by Col. Bird, attacked Riddle's and Martin's stations, at the forks of Licking River, with six pieces of artillery. They carried this expedition so secretly, that the unwary inhabitants did not discover them, until they fired upon the forts; and, not being prepared to oppose them, were obliged to surrender themselves miserable captives to barbarous savages, who immediately after tomahawked one man and two women, and loaded all the others with heavy baggage, forcing them along toward their towns, able or unable to march. Such as were weak and faint by the way, they tomahawked. The tender women, and helpless children, fell victims to their cruelty. This, and the savage treatment they received afterwards, is shocking to humanity, and too barbarous to relate.

The hostile disposition of the savages, and their allies, caused General Clark, the commandant at the Falls of the Ohio, immediately to begin an expedition with his own regiment, and the armed force of the country, against Pecaway, the principal town of the Shawanese, on a branch of Great Miami, which he finished with great success, took seventeen scalps, and burnt the town to ashes, with the loss of seventeen men.

About this time I returned to Kentucky with my family; and here, to avoid an enquiry into my conduct, the reader being before informed of my bringing my family to Kentucky, I am under the necessity of informing him that, during my captivity with the Indians, my wife, who despaired of ever seeing me again, expecting the Indians had put a period to my life, oppressed with the distresses of the country, and bereaved of me, her only happiness, had, before I returned, transported my family and goods, on horses, through the wilderness, amidst a multitude of dangers, to her father's house in North-Carolina.

Shortly after the troubles at Boonsborough, I went to them, and lived peaceably there until this time. The history of my going home, and returning with my family, forms a series of difficulties, an account of which would swell a volume, and being foreign of my purpose, I shall purposely omit them.

I settled my family in Boonsborough once more; and shortly after, on the sixth day of October 1780, I went in company with my brother to the Blue Licks; and, on our return home, we were fired upon by a party of Indians.

The severity of this winter caused great difficulties in Kentucky. The enemy had destroyed most of the corn the summer before. This necessary article was scarce, and dear; and the inhabitants lived chiefly on the flesh of buffalo. The circumstances of many were very lamentable: however, being a hardy race of people, and accustomed to difficulties and necessities, they were wonderfully supported through all their sufferings, until the ensuing autumn, when we received abundance from the fertile soil.

Towards Spring, we were frequently harassed by Indians; and, in May 1782, a party assaulted Ashton's station, killed one man, and took a Negro prisoner. Capt. Ashton. with twenty-five men, pursued, and overtook the savages, and a smart fight ensued, which lasted two hours; but they being superior in number, obliged Captain Ashton's party to retreat, with the loss of eight killed, and four mortally wounded; their brave commander himself being numbered among the dead.
The Indians continued their hostilities; and, about the tenth of August following, two boys were taken from Major Hoy's station. This party was pursued by Capt. Holder and seventeen men, who were also defeated, with the loss of four men killed, and one wounded. Our affairs became more and more alarming. Several stations which had lately been erected in the country were continually infested with savages, stealing their horses and killing the men at every opportunity. In a field, near Lexington, an Indian shot a man, and running to scalp him, was himself shot from the fort, and fell dead upon his enemy.

Every day we experienced recent mischiefs. The barbarous savage nations of Shawanese, Cherokees, Wyandots, Tawas, Delawares, and several others near Detroit, united in a war against us, and assembled their choicest warriors at old Chelicothe, to go on the expedition, in order to destroy us, and entirely depopulate the country.

Their savage minds were inflamed to mischief by two abandoned men, Captains M'Kee and Girty. These led them to execute every diabolical scheme; and, on the fifteenth day of August, commanded a party of Indians and Canadians, of about five hundred in number, against Briant's station, five miles from Lexington. Without demanding a surrender, they furiously assaulted the garrison, which was happily prepared to oppose them; and, after they had expended much ammunition in vain, and killed the cattle round the fort, not being likely to make themselves masters of this place, they raised the siege, and departed in the morning of the third day after they came, with the loss of about thirty killed, and the number of wounded uncertain. Of the garrison four were killed, and three wounded.

On the eighteenth day Col. Todd, Col. Trigg, Major Harland, and myself, speedily collected one hundred and seventy-six men, well armed, and pursued the savages. They had marched beyond the Blue Licks to a remarkable bend of the main fork of Licking River, about forty-three miles from Lexington, where we overtook them on the nineteenth day. The savages observing us, gave way; and we, being ignorant of their numbers, passed the river. When the enemy saw our proceedings, having greatly the advantage of us in situation, they formed the line of battle, from one bend of Licking to the other, about a mile from the Blue Licks.

An exceeding fierce battle immediately began, for about fifteen minutes, when we, being overpowered by numbers, were obliged to retreat, with the loss of sixty-seven men, seven of whom were taken prisoners. The brave and much-lamented Colonels Todd and Trigg, Major Harland, and my second son, were among the dead. We were informed that the Indians, numbering their dead, found they had four killed more than we; and therefore, four of the prisoners they had taken were, by general consent, ordered to be killed, in a most barbarous manner, by the young warriors, in order to train them up to cruelty; and then they proceeded to their towns.

On our retreat we were met by Col. Logan, hastening to join us, with a number of well armed men. This powerful assistance we unfortunately wanted in the battle; for notwithstanding the enemy's superiority of numbers, they acknowledged that, if they had received one more fire from us, they should undoubtedly have given way. So valiantly did our small party fight, that, to the memory of those who unfortunately fell in the battle, enough of honour cannot be paid. Had Col. Logan and his party been with us, it is highly probable we should have given the savages a total defeat.

I cannot reflect upon this dreadful scene, but sorrow fills my heart. A zeal for the defence of their country led these heroes to the scene of action, though with a few men to attack a powerful army of experienced warriors. When we gave way, they pursued us with the utmost eagerness, and in every quarter spread destruction. The river was difficult to cross, and many were killed in the flight, some just entering the river, some in the water, others after crossing, in ascending the cliffs. Some escaped on horseback, a few on foot; and, being dispersed every where in a few hours, brought the melancholy news of this unfortunate battle to Lexington. Many widows were now made. The reader may guess what sorrow filled the hearts of the inhabitants, exceeding any thing that I am able to describe.

Being reinforced, we returned to bury the dead, and found their bodies strewed every where, cut and mangled in a dreadful manner. This mournful scene exhibited a horror almost unparalleled: Some torn and eaten by wild beasts; those in the river eaten by fishes; all in such a putrified condition, that no one could be distinguished from another.

As soon as General Clark, then at the Falls of the Ohio, who was ever our ready friend, and merits the love and gratitude of all his countrymen, understood the circumstances of this unfortunate action, he ordered an expedition, with all possible haste, to pursue the savages, which was so expeditiously effected, that we overtook them within two miles of their towns, and probably might have obtained a great victory, had not two of their number met us about two hundred poles before we came up. These returned quick as lightening to their camp with the alarming news of a mighty army in view.

The savages fled in the utmost disorder, evacuated their towns, and reluctantly left their territory to our mercy. We immediately took possession of Old Chelicothe, without opposition, being deserted by its inhabitants. We continued our pursuit through five towns on the Miami rivers, Old Chelicothe, Pecaway, New Chelicothe, Will's Towns, and Chelicothe, burnt them all to ashes, entirely destroyed their corn, and other fruits, and every where spread a scene of desolation in the country. In this expedition we took seven prisoners and five scalps, with the loss of only four men, two of whom were accidentally killed by our own army.

This campaign in some measure damped the spirits of the Indians, and made them sensible of our superiority. Their connections were dissolved, their armies scattered, and a future invasion put entirely out of their power; yet they continued to practice mischief secretly upon the inhabitants, in the exposed parts of the country.

In October following, a party made an excursion into that district called the Crab Orchard, and one of them, being advanced some distance before the others, boldly entered the house of a poor defenceless family, in which was only a Negro man, a woman and her children, terrified with the apprehensions of immediate death. The savage, perceiving their defenceless situation, without offering violence to the family, attempted to captivate the Negro, who happily proved an over-match for him, threw him on the ground, and, in the struggle, the mother of the children drew an axe from a corner of the cottage, and cut his head off, while her little daughter shut the door. The savages instantly appeared, and applied their tomahawks to the door. An old rusty gun-barrel, without a lock, lay in a corner, which the mother put through a small crevice, and the savages, perceiving it, fled. In the mean time, the alarm spread through the neighbourhood; the armed men collected immediately, and pursued the ravagers into the wilderness. Thus Providence, by the means of this Negro, saved the whole of the poor family from destruction.

From that time, until the happy return of peace between the United States and Great Britain, the Indians did us no mischief. Finding the great king beyond the water disappointed in his expectations, and conscious of the importance of the Long Knife, and their own wretchedness, some of the nations immediately desired peace; to which, at present, they seem universally disposed, and are sending ambassadors to General Clark, at the Falls of the Ohio, with the minutes of their Councils; a specimen of which, in the minutes of the Piankashaw Council, is subjoined.

To conclude, I can now say that I have verifies the saying of an old Indian who signed Col. Henderson's deed. Taking me by the hand, at the delivery thereof, "Brother," says he, "we have given you a fine land, but I believe you will have much trouble in settling it."

My footsteps have often been marked with blood, and therefore I can truly subscribe to its original name. Two darling sons, and a brother, have I lost by savage hands, which have also taken from me forty valuable horses, and abundance of cattle. Many dark and sleepless nights have I been a companion for owls, separated from the cheerful society of men, scorched by the summer's sun, and pinched by the winter's cold, an instrument ordained to settle the wilderness. But now the scene is changed: peace crowns the sylvan shade.

What thanks, what ardent and ceaseless thanks are due to that all-superintending Providence which has turned a cruel war into peace, brought order out of confusion, made the fierce savages placid, and turned away their hostile weapons from our country! May the same Almighty Goodness banish the accursed monster, war, from all lands, with her hated associates, rapine and insatiable ambition! Let peace, descending from her native heaven, bid her olives spring amidst the joyful nations; and plenty, in league with commerce, scatter blessings from her copious hand!"

History of Ripley County Indiana

Ripley County: named for hero of the War of 1812

Rich in history that saw the Miami, Delaware, Potawatomi, and Shawnee Indians hunting the area, Ripley County became a part of the State of Indiana after a proposal in 1816 that a new county be formed. This county was named for General Eleazer Wheelock Ripley, a hero of the War of 1812.

On January 7, 1818, by an act of the General Assembly, John DePauw from Washington County, Charles Beggs of Franklin County, and W.H. Eades of Jennings County, were appointed to select a site for the new county seat. Earning three dollars a day for this task, the first three Commissioners settled on a hundred acre tract donated by John Paul of Madison (Jefferson County). The county seat was named Versailles in honor of DePauw's native city in France and was laid out as a town of 186 lots by John Ritchie.

Ripley County, located in the southeastern part of Indiana, has 450 square miles or 288,000 acres. It is 27 miles north to south and 19 miles east to west with an elevation ranging from 600 feet to 100 feet above sea level. Laughery Creek, named for Colonel Archibold Lochry who fought in the Revolutionary War, flows through the county. In 1826, there were only, Millersburg, Napoleon and Versailles.

THE PEOPLE'S HISTORY OF RIPLEY COUNTY, INDIANA COMPILER, VIOLET E. TOPH, VERSAILLES, INDIANA

FOREWORD BY THE COMPILER

Because of the lapse of time since the organization of Ripley County as a unit of the State of Indiana, the fact that so many families have kept no written records of their families, and the difficulty caused by lack of funds and the scarcity of workers in collecting data for this volume, it will necessarily to have important items omitted and many inaccuracies. The compiler is striving to arrange in a somewhat readable and coherent style information obtained from many of the sources of historical information, i.e. cemeteries, public and family records, newspapers, old family bibles, old letters, previously published histories, national archives, personal interviews and Mics. handed to the compiler to be listed herein as given by their authors. A special attempt is being made to give full credit to all who have contributed so generously by giving their articles, as they have written or told them, with their names attached. This may cause some conflicts in statements, repetitions and inaccuracies in regard to actual historical facts but the compiler desires this book to be a memorial, not only to our pioneer ancestry, but to link the present with the past and give due honor to all who have contributed and without whose help this book would not have been published. The compiler very sincerely asks the pardon of her readers for any and every act of omission or commission which may offend or surprise each or any of them. The only apology which is offered is the difficulty of the task and the inability of the compiler to do any better. Inaccuracies are bound to occur. Violet E. Toph.

BIOGRAPHY:

Churches of Indian-Kentuck Region By Robert W. Scott © 1999 Cross Plains Baptist Church (Brown Twp., Ripley Co.)

The Cross Plains Baptist Church was founded May 18, 1843 when ten men and eleven women joined and associated with the Laughery Baptist Association. The History of Switzerland Co. (p. 1162) reports that Cross Plains grew out of Brushy Fork Baptist Church, which also produced Cross Plains' first minister, the Rev. Robert Stevenson who was ordained at Brushy Fork and who preached in so many churches in Southeastern Indiana. At this point, Stevenson had not yet been ordained.

The action is reflected in the Brushy Fork minutes of the third Saturday in April 1843 which report that "the church granted Several members of dismission namely, Augustus Lathrop and wife, Henry Reed and wife and Samuel Reed and wife and Gerua D. Grover. Second the church has agreed to send six of her members to the Cross planes to aid in Constituting of a church namely John Mathis, John Christie, Robert Stevenson, Alfred Miles, Joseph Voyles, Wm Wicuff." (Punctuation added)

The original church structure was completed in June 1844 and is still in use. George A. and Mary Roberts sold the trustees one acre for $12 on Dec. 25, 1845 in the N1/2 NW1/4 Section 28 Twp. 6N Range 12E (Ripley Co. Deed Book M p. 499.)

The trustees were Augustus Lathrop, William Bassett and Thomas Bassett. The church joined the Long Run Baptist Association on the third Saturday September 1852. Messengers were J.M. Nicholson and John Bassett. The church reported forty members at the time. The church graveyard dates from at least February 1855 when it is first mentioned in church records. He was apparently behind the revivals that produced the waves of new members. A substantial spurt in membership came in April 1894 when fifty members joined (another six members probably joined the same month, but the membership roll is not clear.) A number of these included the Rogers and Buchanan families, who had been members of the Milton Baptist Church. The church is still active. (1999) Besides the membership roll, dating from the church's formation, there are some detailed minutes surviving for a full years after 1914.

Middle Fork of Indian Kentucky (Brown Twp., Ripley Co.) According to The History of Benham, Indiana, by Mrs. Emma King Benham, was built in 1820. The 1860 minutes of the Madison Baptist Association say the Middle Fork of Indian Kentucky Church was founded in 1821 with eight members. It was probably a member of the Laughery Association at that time. James and Mary Benham deeded land in the NE1/4 Section 12 Twp. 6N Range 12E to the deacons, John O'Neal and William Bassett, on 6 May 1826 (Ripley Co. Deed Book A p. 270.) That the building was already present on the site is shown by the deed that refers to "a spring near the meeting house..." Middle Fork became a member of the Madison Association by 1845, when it first appears in the association minutes. In 1845 the church had fifty members and its messengers were J. Demaree, A. Jackson, J. Roberts and H. Roberts. In 1847 it had fifty-one members. Its messengers were John Roberts, James Demaree, G. Nicholson R. Ellis. In 1848, fifty-nine? members (fuzzy photocopy) with N. Ellis, G. Nicholson and J. Roberts, 1849, fifty members, R. Ellis G. Nicholson, J. Roberts, A Campbell. The only minister listed in the association minutes was a Waters, address given as Holton, in 1859. This is likely the John Waters, listed in 1869 by the Madison Association, as the minister at Union Baptist Church. In 1859, the membership at Middle Fork had dropped to thirty five. Messengers that year were W.W. Ellis and J. Jackson. In 1863, the church was dismissed by the Madison Association. Messengers were B. Melson (probably Nelson), W.W Ellis and Jas. B. Jackson, Membership was sixty two. The minutes record a request by the church to form a new association to include Sand Creek (not clear if that means the Sand Creek Church or Sand Creek Association.) The Madison association voted the dismissal and its disapproval of the effort. By about 1876, the church had disbanded. This is reflected in a poem written at that time by Mrs. Benham (1857-1942), who was later the wife of U.S. Representative John S. Benham. The poem begins "we went to the old, old church one night, climbed its crumbling altar stair."

Thanks for the reply Smokey, No, I havent contacted you before and I found your post on Rootsweb's WorldConnect, I would consider the possibility of John McQuidy and John McGuire to be just transcription errors except for the fact that, John McGuire sold (indentured) lands to William Bassett in 1791, Vol: 1, page 239 of Mercer County land records, there was a lawsuit July 22, 1785 in Lincoln County, Owen Owens vs. Jonathan Jennings, Daniel Neves, John Summers, William Bassett and John McGuire, I havent attempted to research all of William Bassetts records so I don't know if there were more associations between those named, John McGuire arrived in Lincoln County abt. 1783 and purchased land from James Davis with warrants purchased from a Joseph Strother of Virginia, he had some dealings with a Zacheriah Bunch and Lawrence McGuire, both from Bedford-Botetourt Counties of Virginia. Do you know where in Botetourt County that William Bassett resided before going to Kentucky? (Jan 2007)

MY NOTE:
Franklin CO was formed in Dec 1794 from Mercer, Woodford & Shelby Co's. However, I'm not sure which county Simpson was in before it ended up in Franklin - so 2 oldest sons (Thomas, 1791 & James, 1793) show as being born in the yet to be formed Franklin Co.
IMMIGRATION: Franklin County Kentucky was formed in 1795 from part of Woodford, Shelby, and Mercer Counties. In 1799 a portion of Franklin County was removed to form Gallatin County and in 1819 a portion was again taken to form Owen County. In 1827, the third and last time, a portion of Franklin County was taken to form Anderson. Franklin County, located in the central Bluegrass region of Kentucky, was named in honor of Benjamin Franklin. The city of Frankfort, named for "Frank's Ford" was founded in 1786. It serves as county seat and the State Capital.

William Bassett Sr.[185], aged 31, married Margaret Bassett [McQuiddy], aged about 18, on 22 November 1786 in Mercer, Kentucky, United States. They had nine children, and assumed parenthood of another one:

Nancy Roe Claxon [Bassett][167] by adoption
Thomas A Bassett Sr.[169] in 1791
James Bassett[171] in 1793
Sarah Ann Nicholson [Bassett][173] in 1796
Elizabeth Swisher [Bassett][175] in 1798
Polly Dowers [Bassett][177] in 1801
Rebecah Wetherbee [Bassett][179] in 1803
Melinda Dowers [Bassett][181] in 1805
William H Bassett Jr.[165] in 1808
Harriet Wade [Bassett][183] in 1811

This family is shown as family tree 2.

Handwritten note on one side of a sheet of paper: "Know all men by these Presents that we William Bassett & John Mcquire are held & firmly bound unto Patrick Henry Esq Govr of Virginia in the sum of fifty pounds Current Money to the payment Where of to be made to the said Governor or his Successors We bind ourselves our Heirs Ex'ors Adm'ors jointly & severally firmly these presents Sealed with our seals & dated this 22nd day of November 1786. The Condition of the above Obligation is such that [whereas a] marriage shortly intended to be solemnized Between William Bassett & Margret Mcquidy for Which a Licence was issued now if there [be] no Lawful Cause to obstruct the Marriage then this Obligation to be Void or Else to Remain in full. William Bassett {seal} John Mcquidy {seal}*

Sealed & Delivered in Presence of John Warren."

 Illegible on original, so wording provided is from similar bonds found in same source.*

 Word missing on original, word taken from other bonds in same source.*

Handwritten on a separate scrap of paper: "I fully give my Consent for Mr. Wm Bassett to get licence to Marey my Daughter Marget given under my hand this 22 November 1786. Mary Mcquidey." [Note: Peggy was age 17 or 18]

2. Mercer County Register, vol. 1, page 4 (LDS film 0192267) has: 1786, Nov. 22 - William Bassett + Margaret McQuiddy, by James Smith. But book Early Marriage Records of Mercer County, compiled by the Jane McAfee Chapter NSDAR, of Harrodsburg, Ky., shows: 1786, Nov. 22 - Bassett, Wm. and Margt McGurdy, minister shown as Rice.

3. (Will McGuire Jan 2007)
The Reverend David Rice was known as the patriarch of Presbyterianism in Kentucky, he founded several small Presbyterian churches but is best known as the founder of the Presbyterian Church at Crab Orchard in Lincoln County in 1783, David Rice was previously the first minister of the Peaks of Otter Presbyterian Church in Bedford County, VA in 1774, Lawrence McGuire and family were founding members of that early church before the war.

4. Note from Merritt Mullen (Desc. from Nancy ROE Bassett):
"It is interesting that the Bond was made by William Basset and John Mcquire, but was signed by William Bassett and John Mcquidy. I suspect the Mcquire was just a mistake. The concent given by Margaret's mother, Mary, indicates that Margaret was underage and that her father was dead, both consistant with the data we have."

5. Note by Ronald Bassett: The 1829 Bassett family bible clearly states Wm & Peggy were married on 27 Nov. 1786. I will assume that they had to take out the marriage bond/license prior to being married.

5. FAMILY TREES

Each family tree shows the reported children, parents, grandparents and great-grandparents of a family group. In order to reduce redundancy, any family group which is wholly included within another family tree may not be reported separately.

Above each of the great-grandparent boxes (top row), a continuation family tree reference number is shown if the great-grandparent is recorded as a child in the continuation tree. A continuation reference number is also shown to the left of a grandparent or parent box if that individual has siblings reported in the continuation tree; and beneath a child box (bottom row) if that individual has children reported in the continuation tree.

In cases of multiple marriages, a continuation reference number preceded by "=" is shown to the right of a parent box. This number references the previous and/or next tree in which that individual is shown with another partner.

In cases of adopted (or fostered) children, the parental connection is shown with a dashed line and a continuation reference number preceded by "=" is shown within the individual's box. This number references the tree in which that individual is shown with his or her natural parents.
