Covington, Ind., Feb 25

Ex-Senator Fred Boord, of this city, eloped to Danville yesterday with Miss Virginia M Rice, daughter of W J Rice, editor of the Gospel Echo. Their marriage was a surprise to their friends, who did not suspect a serious attachment. The wily senator attracted some attention to himself during the last campaign by deserting the Republicans, who elected him to office, and joining the free silver party. Miss rice is a pretty and accomplished young woman, who has many friends here.

Priest Refused to Marry Them

Columbia City, Ind., Dec 15

H W McFarland, assistant ticket auditor of the Chicago and Northwestern railway and Miss M A Casey, also of Chicago, came to this city from the Gutcher sanitarium at Larwill, a village eight miles west of this place, and secured a marriage license. They went to the Roman Catholic parsonage and Father Bocard refused to marry them. They sought Pastor Fischer of the Baptist church, and they were married.
